

Coexistence or War, Nikita Declares Ike Calls for Poor Nation Easy Loans

President Sick of Steel Impasse, Action Indicated Soon by Gov't

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he is "getting sick and tired of the apparent impasse" in the steel strike.

He strongly indicated the government is planning some action soon to try to end the 76-day-old shutdown.

At a news conference, Eisenhower called the situation intolerable. But he declined to say whether the Taft-Hartley law with its court injunction provision for sending the steel workers back to their jobs for at least an 80-day cooling off period would be invoked.

At the outset of the news conference, Eisenhower indicated that he expected most of the questions to deal with his talks over the weekend with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

He added that he first wanted to say something about a matter of great importance on the domestic scene. Then, his voice hoarse from a cold, Eisenhower read a prepared statement.

Not Assessing Blame

Referring to the strike, Eisenhower said emphatically: "I am not going to try to assess any blame, but I am getting sick and tired of the apparent impasse in the settlement of this matter—and so are the American people. Free collective bargaining, the logical recourse of a free people in settling industrial disputes, has apparently broken down."

Formal negotiations between the steel companies and the steel union broke off Friday.

The long strike, Eisenhower said, already has had a noticeable impact on the nation's economy.

Serious for All Nation

Now, with negotiations abandoned, "the prospects become serious for every individual in the nation," Eisenhower said.

At that point the President said he was not going to discuss specific actions the government could take, including use of the Taft-Hartley law.

Sens. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) and John Sparkman (D-Ala.) called on Eisenhower to take a personal hand in getting the talks going again.

They urged a series of White House conferences with both sides, and said they opposed use of the injunctive procedure at this time.

Ready to Advise T-H Action

But Eisenhower's closest advisers in the matter were reported ready to advise the President that Taft-Hartley action should come soon. They based that opinion on the growing industrial effects of the strike and a realization that several weeks would be required to resume full production even when the strike ends.

They were known to doubt the usefulness of prodding new negotiating efforts in view of the deadlock that has continued since the strike started on July 15.

2 More Succumb To Malady, May Be Encephalitis

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—A disease thought to be dreaded encephalitis has killed two more persons in South Jersey, bringing the death toll to 11.

In addition, the malady has hospitalized its 18th victim, an 81-year-old Tuckerton woman. Her name has not been released.

The fatalities were Jerome Bragg Jr., 10, of Manahawkin and George Kauffman, 77, of New Gretna. Both died yesterday.

Yesterday the U. S. Public Health Service dispatched an entomologist to examine mosquitoes in the area.

Motorists have been warned to keep windows closed while driving through South Jersey's pine barrens. Picnic areas have been closed.

The disease is frequently called sleeping sickness—but is not the same sleeping sickness carried by the tsetse fly in Africa. It has symptoms similar to polio.

15 Killed In Weekend Traffic Toll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Fifteen persons were killed in traffic accidents during the weekend in New York State.

An 8-month-old child, John Spedding, suffocated in Lockport Sunday when his head became wedged in the sidebars of a crib.

His death brought the accident toll to 16 in the state during the period from 7 p. m. Friday night to midnight Sunday.

In Albany, seven-year-old Bonita Paige was struck and killed by a police car Saturday that was en route to another accident.

Two 19-year-old boys from Central Bridge, Kenneth Bartholomew and Charles Bearcraft, were killed Saturday when their automobile struck an abutment of a railroad underpass at Central Bridge, Schoharie County.

Geraldine Miranda, 11½, was killed Sunday in Schenectady when an automobile that had been halted with its motor running shot across a street, jumped a curb and struck her stroller.

The driver told police she accidentally touched the accelerator on her car when she leaned over to pick up a postcard from the floor.

Other deaths in accidents over the weekend:

Liberty—John Kobeski, 40, struck by a car as he crossed Route 17 Friday night.

Rochester—Mrs. Elizabeth Coffey, 81, Scottsville, two-car collision Friday night.

Bankers Hear Plan At Parley Global Lending To Shift Burden

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today called for the creation of a billion-dollar international development association to extend easy-payment loans to underdeveloped nations.

The association would be a subsidiary of the World Bank.

Eisenhower made his suggestion in a brief address of welcome to the governing boards of the bank and the International Monetary Fund opening their annual meeting here.

Tells 68 Nations

He told the finance ministers of 68 nations: "In our view, no other mechanism can perform this task" for the free world as well as an international development association.

The U. S. governor of the bank and Robert B. Anderson, has formally proposed creating the association, a global lending institution. It would help shift part of the increasing burden of foreign aid to European and other countries.

Eisenhower told the delegates the United States believes the new agency should be closely integrated with the World Bank—which makes only safe and conservative "soft loans" to countries needing them.

Soft loans provide for easy payments and are repayable at least in part in the currency of the borrower.

Making the association an affiliate of the World Bank, Eisenhower said, would be a "logical step."

Police Checking Gangland Data in Dead Man's Book

NEW YORK (AP)—Authorities have pieced together the last hours—except for the last crucial minutes—in the violent life of Little Augie Pisano.

Little Augie, 62, whose real name was Anthony Carfano and who once was a top henchman of Al Capone and a life-long buddy of Frank Costello, was shot to death Friday night in his flashy black Cadillac with a farmer beauty queen by his side.

The woman, blonde Mrs. Janice Drake, 32, a one-time Miss New Jersey and former showgirl, died only because she happened to be in the death car when Little Augie's number was up, police believe.

Both were shot from the rear of the car in the Jackson Heights section of Queens, indicating that either the killers had hidden there and surprised the couple or were known to be there just before the coolly efficient slaying.

Little Augie's small red book of telephone numbers, which was tucked in his pocket along with a big roll of 50-and 100-dollar bills, reads like a who's who of gangland. Authorities are checking each of these.

Delegates From 68 Nations Meet Ike on Banking

WASHINGTON (AP)—Delegates from 68 free world nations gathered today to hear President Eisenhower outline his views on international financial issues.

The President was to read a personal greeting at the opening of the annual meetings of the annual meetings of the World Bank, International Monetary Fund and International Finance Corp.

Eisenhower was expected to emphasize his belief that other industrial nations as well as the United States should help finance the economic buildup of underdeveloped areas. He pushed this view during his European trip last month.

Rocky Meets
Politicos in New England

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller's weekend foray into New England turned out to be rather political after all.

Rockefeller, who has not said whether he will run for the Republican presidential nomination, had maintained that the trip was to be non-political.

But observers believed he wanted to sound out opinion in New Hampshire on his chances in that state's presidential primary next March.

Meets GOP Also

The way the governor put it he was going just to meet Dartmouth College classmates and watch the Dartmouth-Holy Cross football game.

He did those things. But Sunday he ended up in a huddle with 25 Vermont Young Republicans at the Woodstock, Vt., home of Laurence Rockefeller, the governor's brother.

Among those attending was Carl Kelton, chairman of the Vermont Young Republicans.

After the 90-minute meeting ended, Judge Henry F. Black, the organizer of the get-together, said Rockefeller "was asked about his experience during his eight years in Washington and as governor of New York, and general questions about his philosophy of government."

Can't Tell Yet

Black said Rockefeller indicated that until his New York legislative program was completed for next year "it would not be possible for him to determine his future political course."

Rockefeller had gone to Woodstock to have breakfast with fellow members of the Dartmouth Class of '30.

Saturday, the governor met in Concord, N. H., with Wesley Powell, New Hampshire's Republican governor. Powell is regarded as a supporter of Vice President Richard M. Nixon as the GOP presidential candidate.

Nixon is due in New Hampshire next Saturday.

Rockefeller drove by car from Concord to Hanover to watch the football game. His route by-passed a group of Dartmouth students (Continued on Page 6, Col. 6)

Moscow Gives Welcome To Premier on Return Thousands Cheer, Toss Flowers When Khrushchev Rides to Sports Palace

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev returned from his American visit today with a declaration that "those who are afraid of coexistence are unwitting tools in promoting the cold war."

The Soviet Premier, given a hero's welcome, told a jam-packed throng at the Moscow Sports Palace that the cold war might spark off another armed conflict. "Then it would be too late to ask questions about coexistence, when atom-bomb-carrying rockets started flying," he said.

Says 'Okay' in English

Smiling broadly Khrushchev called out "okay" to well-wishers at Moscow Airport on his arrival after a 10-hour, 28-minute flight from the United States.

He spoke the word in English from the top of a ramp leading down from his plane in apparent summary of the results of his tour and talks with President Eisenhower.

He was met by President Klementi Y. Voroshilov, Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan and many others in the government. Mrs. Khrushchev followed the Premier off the plane.

No Signs of Strain

Khrushchev looked very well.

Most in Peiping Now

Most of the major Soviet personalities are already in Peiping—Khrushchev's next stop—or on vacation. In Peiping Khrushchev will tell Mao Tse-tung of his talks with Eisenhower.

Literally millions of Russians were undoubtedly glued to their radio or TV sets to hear of or see their leader's arrival. For them it has been one of the greatest stories since the Stalin era.

His plane touched down at 3:28 p. m.—7:28 a. m. EST.

The arrival was broadcast by Radio Moscow and shown on Soviet television.

How Parley Sums Up At Glance

WASHINGTON (AP)—What did President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev accomplish in their weekend Camp David talks?

NEGOTIATIONS—They agreed problems should be settled by peaceful negotiations rather than by force.

DISARMAMENT—The two agreed it is the most important question facing the world today. Khrushchev said he favored appropriate disarmament inspection and control, but was not specific. The Western powers long have insisted on fool-proof controls.

COLD WAR—Khrushchev said he and Eisenhower found a great deal in common "in our understanding of our positions and of the need to improve relations between our two countries."

GERMAN REUNIFICATION—Apparently no progress.

BERLIN—Some progress. They agreed to reopen formal negotiations—subject to the approval of other countries concerned. This could be at a sub-foreign ministers level, at a foreign ministers meeting or a summit conference.

EISENHOWER VISIT—The two agreed that Eisenhower's visit to the U. S. S. R., scheduled tentatively for this fall, will be deferred until spring.

U. S. SOVIET EXCHANGES—Substantial progress with respect to an increase in exchanges of persons and ideas. Certain agreements expected soon.

SOVIET PAYMENTS—Agreed to reopen negotiations on U. S. claim of 800 million dollars against the U. S. S. R., mostly for lend-lease aid.

He showed no signs of strain from the flight and the strenuous two weeks which preceded it.

Thousands cheered him and tossed flowers into his car on his 30-mile drive from the airport to the Sports Palace. Beaming and looking well rested, Khrushchev waved back.

At the Sports Palace, before 15,000 or more, he assured the Soviet people that progress was made in lowering tensions. He said Eisenhower showed a statesmanlike mind in assessing the situation.

Covered by U. N. Anyway

The Premier came back with much credit in his own country. He went to the United Nations hoping to get a joint statement with Eisenhower that was not renounced as a means of solving international disputes. He got it.

It wasn't important except for local and foreign propaganda purposes for this guarantee is in the United Nations Charter, to which both the Soviet Union and the United States subscribe.

He didn't get a nonaggression pact, but got an agreement to discuss disputes, a thing which was available without a trip but which can be converted into useful proof of the value of the trip and the strength of Soviet enterprise in foreign affairs.

Viaduct Hearing
Oct. 15 Moved to Council Chamber

Mayor Edwin F. Radel said today that a public hearing on the Washington Avenue viaduct elimination scheduled for Oct. 15 at 10 a. m. will be held in the Council chamber instead of in the court house as previously announced.

Late last week the mayor received a letter from former Mayor Frederick H. Stang, as president of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, in which he stated he would "be happy to testify" when the hearing is reopened.

Proceedings were instituted in the former mayor's administration toward ridding the city of the hazardous bottleneck, and Albany legislation was enacted to designate a section of Washington Avenue as part of the state route, or project area to be involved.

Stang also told Mayor Radel he would be pleased to confer with Corporation Counsel William A. Kelly prior to reopening the hearing previously held in July, 1953, during Stang's administration. The hearing was adjourned at that time without prejudice.

Town Caucuses in County Have Spirited Contests

A number of interesting battles developed in town caucuses Friday and Saturday as parties nominated their slates for the November elections.

Edwin C. Chase was nominated for supervisor at the Town of Wawarsing Republican caucus, defeating Jerome Elkin, a member of the Ellenville village board, by a vote of 23 to 2.

In the Town of New Paltz, Peter Savago, incumbent town clerk, won the Republican nomination for supervisor, defeating the incumbent, Richard W. Lent, by a vote of 222 to 211. Lent was appointed to serve the unexpired term of Fred H. DuBois.

Incumbent Supervisor Alexander Banyo was unopposed in the Town of Ulster Republican caucus but several hot races developed for other town posts.

There was a three-way battle for justice of the peace with a political newcomer, Robert Stedje taking the nomination on a second ballot. Opposing him were Millard Davis, incumbent, and Harold E. Macholdt, Jr., a former magistrate.

On the first ballot Stedje received 193 votes, Davis 145 and Macholdt 64, which eliminated Macholdt. On the second ballot Stedje received 220 votes to 146 for Davis.

Another newcomer to the political scene, Ted Musialkiewicz, who operates a grocery store on Vincent Street, was nominated for councilman, defeating the incumbent, Edgar Elliott, by 193 to 180.

The incumbent tax collector, Salvatore Castiglione, was renominated, receiving 232 votes to 140 for Alfrederick Kilmer and 72 for Nick Valenzano.

Husband Shoots Nurse in Warwick, Then Kills Self

WARWICK, N. Y. (AP)—A 52-year-old man killed his estranged wife on the steps of the hospital where she worked Sunday and then drove several miles and shot himself to death.

Mrs. Dorothy Taylor, 48, was shot in the back with a .12 gauge shotgun on the steps of St. Anthony Hospital, where she was a nurse. Witnesses said they saw a man run from the scene.

A little later, the body of Mrs. Taylor's estranged husband, Jerome Taylor, of Staten Island, was found dead in his car on a road several miles from here.

Orange County Coroner Walter Trumper termed the case a murder and suicide.

Police said Taylor, who was estranged from his wife about two years, had been arrested twice for annoying her. A son, Dennis, lived with his mother in Warwick. The Taylors also had two married daughters.

U. S. Steel Head Is In Critical Condition

HYANNIS, Mass. (AP)—Walter F. Munford, 59, president of U. S. Steel Corp., is reported in critical condition with a cerebral thrombosis at Cape Cod Hospital.

He was taken to the hospital last Wednesday with a knife wound accidentally in the family summer home in Chatham.

The following day Munford suffered a cerebral thrombosis which paralyzed his right arm and hindered his speech. Sunday his name was placed on the critical list.

Injured While Fishing

While fishing with her parents on Sunday, Frances Gibbons, 8, Box 398, Lake Katrine received and injury of her right thumb, according to a police report. A hook on a line cast off by her brother penetrated the thumb. The injury was treated at Kingston Hospital.

Interest Shifting To Peiping Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington interest was swinging today toward Peiping where a familiar figure—Nikita Khrushchev—is about to make an appearance.

A visit by the Soviet Premier to his No. 1 Communist ally is a matter of note any time. It is especially so when the Soviet leader has just completed an historic trip to the United States, Red China's No. 1 hate in the cold war.

Leaves Tuesday

Khrushchev, who only today returned to Moscow from the United States, is scheduled to leave Tuesday for Peiping.

There has been little indication so far that Khrushchev will make much of a public splash in Peiping. To the contrary, there has been a curious silence.

The official purpose of Khrushchev's China journey is to attend the 10th anniversary celebration of the Peiping regime Oct. 1.

After the first few days of his U. S. tour, the Red Chinese press has paid scant attention to Khrushchev's doings here.

The Kremlin leader himself has made few references to his Asiatic ally despite China's prominence in cold war trouble spots. Soviet aides at his news conference Sunday selected for Khrushchev's reply none of a number of questions concerning Red China which were submitted by American newsmen.

Have Several Theories

Several theories are advanced here for the comparative Communist quietness on the U. S.-China theme.

One is that Peiping is engrossed in internal affairs for the moment. The 10th anniversary celebration talk has focused on claims for the great leap forward, the Red Regime's far-reaching plan for economic advancement.

Something of a purge has been under way in Communist Chinese ranks. Word of more than 400 job changes, reaching high into military and other positions, has reached the West.

Khrushchev may not want to put himself on the spot with a major speech now that would anger either Peiping or Washington.

Staying backstage in Peiping would not rule out serious private talks by Khrushchev with the other Communist leaders, however. He also may have some bones to pick with Peiping's leadership. For instance, the Red Chinese have now publicly admitted the error of former production claims—claims which had been used by Khrushchev in his boasts of Communist bloc strength.

Business Expansion Hess Goal

Election of A. E. (Jack) Hess as acting president of Electrol Incorporated was officially announced today by the company.

He replaces Benjamin N. Ashton, former president of the company, whose tenure of office was terminated by the board.

Both actions were taken by the board at a meeting held in the company's executive offices here on Friday.

Expansion Main Thought

Assuming his office, Hess stated "pending election by the board of a permanent president, my responsibilities will be to see that all company commitments are fulfilled promptly, efficiently and effectively. Neither I nor the board are interested in curtailing our activities. On the contrary, it is our actual intention."

Japanese Typhoon Kills 2,618; 927,708 Homeless

TOKYO (AP)—Japan staggered today under mounting casualties from the whiplash of a weekend typhoon which left at least 2,618 dead or missing, and 927,708 homeless.

Wary officials at national police headquarters worked around the clock to keep up with the rising toll as rescuers dug through mud and debris for bodies. By noon they listed 1,161 known-dead, 1,467 missing and 4,668 injured.

Widespread crop damage sent prices of rice and vegetables skyrocketing, heaping more hardship on the grieving populace.

Eyewitness accounts of one of the mightiest typhoons ever to hit Japan told a cruel story.

A Japanese newsmen who visited Nagashima, a town in central Japan, reported: "I could only guess the location of the main street. It was completely submerged by floodwaters. So was the railway station and the movie theater. Everything was gone, it seemed, except for the old man and old woman on whose boat I hitched a ride."

A newsmen in nearby Handa told of weeping relatives digging through mud and debris by candlelight for the bodies of 200 Japanese believed buried there.

At Kuwana city 85 bodies had been recovered but 685 persons were still missing.

The harbor of the industrial city of Nagoya was described as a "sea of dead," with seven ocean-going ships grounded like beached whales and debris floating everywhere. Hundreds were killed or missing in the city of two million. There also was heavy industrial damage.

Nagoya, Nagashima, Handa and Kuwana all border Ise Bay, on the Pacific coast of central Japan, where Typhoon Vera first struck Saturday with maximum winds over 160 miles an hour.

The storm swept up the main island of Honshu, crossed Hokkaido Island and finally swirled into the Okhotsk Sea and the northern Pacific with diminishing strength Sunday night.

Japanese government leaders said a special budget allocation will be made for rehabilitation work. The damage extends over 58 of Japan's 47 prefectures.

National police said property damage included some 20,000 homes totally destroyed, over 60,000 partly destroyed, and some 400,000 homes flooded.

Model Railroad

Club Exhibition

Has New Scenes

A new section featuring the construction of a power dam and a "night scene" complete with all the necessary lighting will be presented at the annual public exhibition of the Kingston Model Railroad Club Inc. this year.

Known as the Hudson-Champlain Railroad Show, in conjunction with the year's events in the area, the annual show will open to the public on Sunday, Oct. 11, at 2:20 p. m., operating until 9:30 p. m. on both Sundays, Oct. 11 and 18, and week nights between the Sundays from 7 to 9:30 p. m.

The exhibition, featuring a complete miniature railroad system in action, is presented each year at the club quarters, 541 Broadway, next to the West Shore Railroad freight station. Automobile entrance to the club and parking grounds is from Pine Grove Avenue to Susan Street, pedestrians may reach the club by stairway from the Broadway underpass.

Club president Walter H. Phillips said that the 22-year old club's miniature railroad has been continually improved to the point where all types of equipment and continuous operation awaits visitors to the exhibition. The show attracts approximately 2,000 visitors annually, said the club leader, who indicated that comments from past years indicate that the exhibition attracts the attention of both adults and children.

H-C Committee

Preparing Report

Kingston Hudson-Champlain Celebration executive committee met Friday night and reviewed the activities of the year, the first step in preparing a report to the Mayor and the Common Council.

It was reported that requests for 350th Anniversary Souvenir Books are coming in from all parts of the country. The historic articles on Hudson River shipping, the D & H Canal and railroad seem to attract a great deal of attention. Many favorable comments have also been received about the portrait of Princess Beatrix and the fine collection of old photographs contained in the book. One request was received from the Milwaukee Public Library.

Although there is still a limited supply of books available the committee believes they will soon become rare collectors items. It will be impossible to reprint the book after the present edition is exhausted. Copies are still available at both O'Reilly Stationery stores, 611 Broadway and 38 John St., Winter's at 326 Wall Street, the newsstand at the Governor Clinton Hotel and at the Chamber of Commerce office.

A preliminary financial report indicated that at least half of the original appropriation made to this committee by the City will be returned. In commenting on this favorable situation, Albert Kurdt, chairman of the committee, stated that the voluntary help of many individuals, organizations, agencies and officials made it possible to conduct all of the events sponsored by the committee and to publish the souvenir book at such a low cost. Kurdt said that no public solicitation of funds has been or will be necessary. All receipts came from the City appropriation, a limited number of ads in the souvenir book and the sale of the book itself. "It is very gratifying to work on a committee when you receive such wholehearted and generous cooperation from everyone," Kurdt concluded.

The committee also expressed appreciation and asked that the merchants, and others who decorated their buildings for "Empire State Day" and the visit of Princess Beatrix, be thanked. It helped materially, the committee said, to make the town more attractive and aided the success of the events.

Total advertising linage for the first six months of 1959 shows a gain of 5.6% over 1958 in the cities measured by Media Records. The largest gains were scored in automotive, financial and classified advertising.

Car, Trailer in Thruway Mishap

An 84-year-old Philadelphia, Pa., woman was in apparently good condition today at Kingston Hospital after a car in which she was riding turned over Sunday afternoon on the Thruway about five miles south of the Kingston interchange.

Mrs. Estelle Feldstein suffered multiple leg and scalp injuries, it was reported by Trooper R. H. Reu of the Kingston Thruway police.

She was riding in a 1957 sedan operated by Gilbert H. Feldstein of Philadelphia, a son, at the time of the mishap.

The car was drawing a U-Haul trailer at the time.

As they were proceeding south at Mile Post 87 about 2:40 p. m. the car went off the shoulder, pulled back, the trailer whipping over and causing the sedan to overturn in the center mall. The car righted itself as shown in the picture.

Mrs. Feldstein was taken to Kingston Hospital by Fatum Ambulance.

Berlin Threat Appears Over, Summit Brighter

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today of his talks with Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev that the threat to Berlin no longer exists and his personal confidence for holding a Summit Conference have been met.

But Eisenhower declined to say in so many words that the Soviet leader had given him personal assurances which amounted to lifting the Berlin threat.

He replied to news conference questions on that point by saying he did not want to put words in anybody's mouth.

Eisenhower said he agreed with Khrushchev that the Berlin situation is abnormal — because of the existence of a group of free people inside Communist territory.

He said that some system must be found which would be acceptable to both sides.

Will Talk on Prisoners

He disclosed that in the course of the talks which he had with Khrushchev at Camp David, Md., from Friday night to Sunday afternoon, Khrushchev had said that in a friendly way he would take up with Chinese communist leaders the problem of five Americans still held prisoner in Chinese Communist jails.

He said they spent very little time talking about Communist China, however, because they immediately found that their views were totally opposed.

The President began his unusual Monday morning news conference with glowing praise for the American people's treatment of Khrushchev.

He called them very sophisticated in being able to listen to the other fellow's arguments and criticism while remaining strong in their own conviction.

Eisenhower spoke with a slight nasal stiffness. He said he had come back from Europe with the beginning of a cold.

The news session was set just 13 hours after the almost inextinguishable Communist leader flew off to Moscow, apparently satisfied that his 13-day American visit had been a whopping success.

Macmillan Gets Notes

Well in advance of his meeting with reporters Eisenhower was understood to have dispatched accounts of his talks with Khrushchev to Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain, President Charles de Gaulle of France and German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer — all of whom he had consulted prior to Khrushchev's coming here.

Khrushchev spent two hours in front of the television cameras, discussing the talks, and extolling the achievements of Soviet communism. A few hours later he boarded his huge TU114 jet propeller airplane at Andrews Air Force Base with his wife, children and aides and soared into the dark sky toward a hero's welcome in Moscow.

In his farewell address he spoke of his meeting with Eisenhower and the President's return trip to the U.S.S.R. next spring as "the beginning of joint efforts in the course of ways of bringing our two nations closer together and strengthening general peace."

Sees Progress on Peace

Eisenhower also was reported satisfied that some progress has been made toward opening up a new and more peaceful era in world affairs.

A clue to possibly significant agreement between the two leaders, was set out in the final communique issued after they had spent about 21 hours of talking in the misty Catskill Mountains at Camp David, Md., between 6 p. m. Friday and 2:10 p. m. Sunday.

"With respect to the specific Berlin question," the communique reported, "an understanding was reached, subject to the approval of other parties directly concerned, that negotiations would be reopened with a view to achieving a solution which would be in the interest of the maintenance of peace."

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen the negotiations might be conducted by diplomats, in a foreign ministers conference or at a summit conference.

Other officials privately rated a summit conference as a good possibility before Eisenhower makes his spring trip to the Soviet Union. This immediately suggested that Khrushchev and he had perhaps worked out a new approach to the Berlin dispute touched off by Khrushchev's demand last November for withdrawal of Allied forces from West Berlin.

Threat Must Go

Eisenhower has said repeatedly and emphatically that he will not go to a regular summit conference until the Soviet threat to West Berlin was completely removed. Khrushchev and he spent the greatest part of their time discussing the Berlin problem and other German questions, including a peace treaty.

The communique included what amounted to a renunciation of war as an instrument of foreign policy by Eisenhower and Khrushchev. They agreed, the statement said, that "all outstanding international questions should be settled not by application of force but by peaceful means through negotiations."

It also disclosed that the President's visit to the Soviet Union had been deferred until sometime next spring. It had been expected this fall.

Thus ended the 13-day tour of the country he had longed for years to visit. He left with warm words of praise for the United States, its people and their President — always being careful to say that much as he admired the United States he liked communism, the Soviet Union and the

Discuss $30,500

Scouting Council

Finance Campaign

Plans for the coming $30,500 finance campaign of Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, were finalized at a campaign steering committee meeting held recently at Ulster County Savings Institution conference room in Kingston.

General Campaign Chairman Fred DuBois, of New Paltz, presided.

Chairman DuBois underlined the need for a successful campaign because, while the Council boy membership has increased 20 per cent over the past five years, the Council's supporting budget has not increased.

The campaign, to be held throughout Ulster and Greene Counties, outside of the Kingston Area Community Chest, has set a goal of $30,500 for operating funds to meet the needs of this growth in Scouting.

Status reports on the progress of community organization were given to Scout Executive Alex MacDonald by the seven district chairmen.

A discussion on the campaign publicity schedule was held under the leadership of John F. Schuehler, of New Paltz, newly-appointed council campaign publicity chairman. Campaign publicity committee members William C. Bond, of Saugerties, and Tony Bell, of Kingston also made presentations.

Campaign auditing techniques were discussed by Gerald Overbaugh, of Saugerties, who is serving as council audit committee chairman.

Other members of the council campaign steering committee attending were: John Fromer, Tannersville; Henry Werker, Greenville; John Machione, Kingston; Fred Reinhardt, Greenville; Elwood Hitchcock, East Jewett; Joseph Tarocca, Marlboro; Robert Hensel, Kingston and Irving Kotrady, Kingston.

Rosh Hashanah, High Holyday, Is Oct. 2 This Year

The Jewish High Holydays, a ten-day period of prayers and penitence, starts at sunset, Friday.

Beginning with Rosh Hashanah, the religious New Year, the Holydays reach their climax on Yom Kippur (the Day of Atonement) which occurs Sunday evening, Oct. 11. Orthodox and Conservative Jews, in accordance with tradition, observe Rosh Hashanah for two days: Reform Jews, following Biblical mandate, only one. Yom Kippur is observed one day by all and is marked by fasting and constant devotions.

Worship services on Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur abound in pleas for divine help in the improvement of personal conduct. The great theme of the Holydays is the God-given power to attain moral betterment. This idea is stressed in hymns, liturgy and sermons.

The shofar, (ram's horn) is sounded on Rosh Hashanah as a call to conscience. It is also heard at the conclusion of the Yom Kippur service. The Saturday of the High Holyday period is known as the Sabbath of Repentance or the Sabbath of Return and synagogue service on that day is marked by special prayers for repentance.

PLAN AHEAD

What a wonderful thing to grow old gracefully! But there is an even greater advantage to do it in the sun. This is within the grasp of a person who is practical and plans for the day when retirement is possible. The elderly should be able to enjoy their days in peace, comfort and with security. All this calls for planning beforehand. Provide for the uncertain future while fortune is still smiling on you.

Woman Committed After Missing Children Found

FELTS MILLS, N. Y. (AP)—The two children said the woman asked them to play a game—hiding from police. So they stayed locked in a shed for 24 hours while State Police, sheriffs deputies, an airplane and 45 volunteers searched for them.

The woman, 64-year-old Mrs. Susan Lamonda, was committed to St. Lawrence State Hospital after the children were found Saturday night. The district attorney said she had been found mentally incompetent.

Darlene Durant, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Durant, and Linda Cloe, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Cloe, were found by a sheriff's deputy walking along a road near this Jefferson County community.

They were unharmed.

They said they agreed to play the game with Mrs. Lamonda, a neighbor, Friday night. She locked them in a shed in back of her home and reported to police that she had seen a strange man and a woman pick them up in a car.

A search was launched.

The girls ate three meals of bread and butter and cookies, then asked to be released. Mrs. Lamonda freed them.

English Courses Suggested
Editor, The Freeman:
May I voice my opinion in regard to Officer Louis Sapp's stating "It would be a good idea for our police force to take Spanish because of our new Puerto Rican residents."

It would be a much better idea for our new residents to take English speaking courses, since they are making their home here, working here, etc. In order to understand and be understood one must thoroughly adopt the customs and language of the place they call home.

Returns From Arctic

Wallace J. Elston, chief engineer, USN, husband of the former Miss Gloria E. Mayes of 48 Howland Avenue, returned to Boston, Mass., Sept. 22, aboard the icebreaker USS Atka, after operating for nearly four months in Arctic waters in the North Atlantic.

The Atka travelled both the east and west coasts of Greenland, participating in the Military Sea Transportation Service's annual resupply of northern bases.

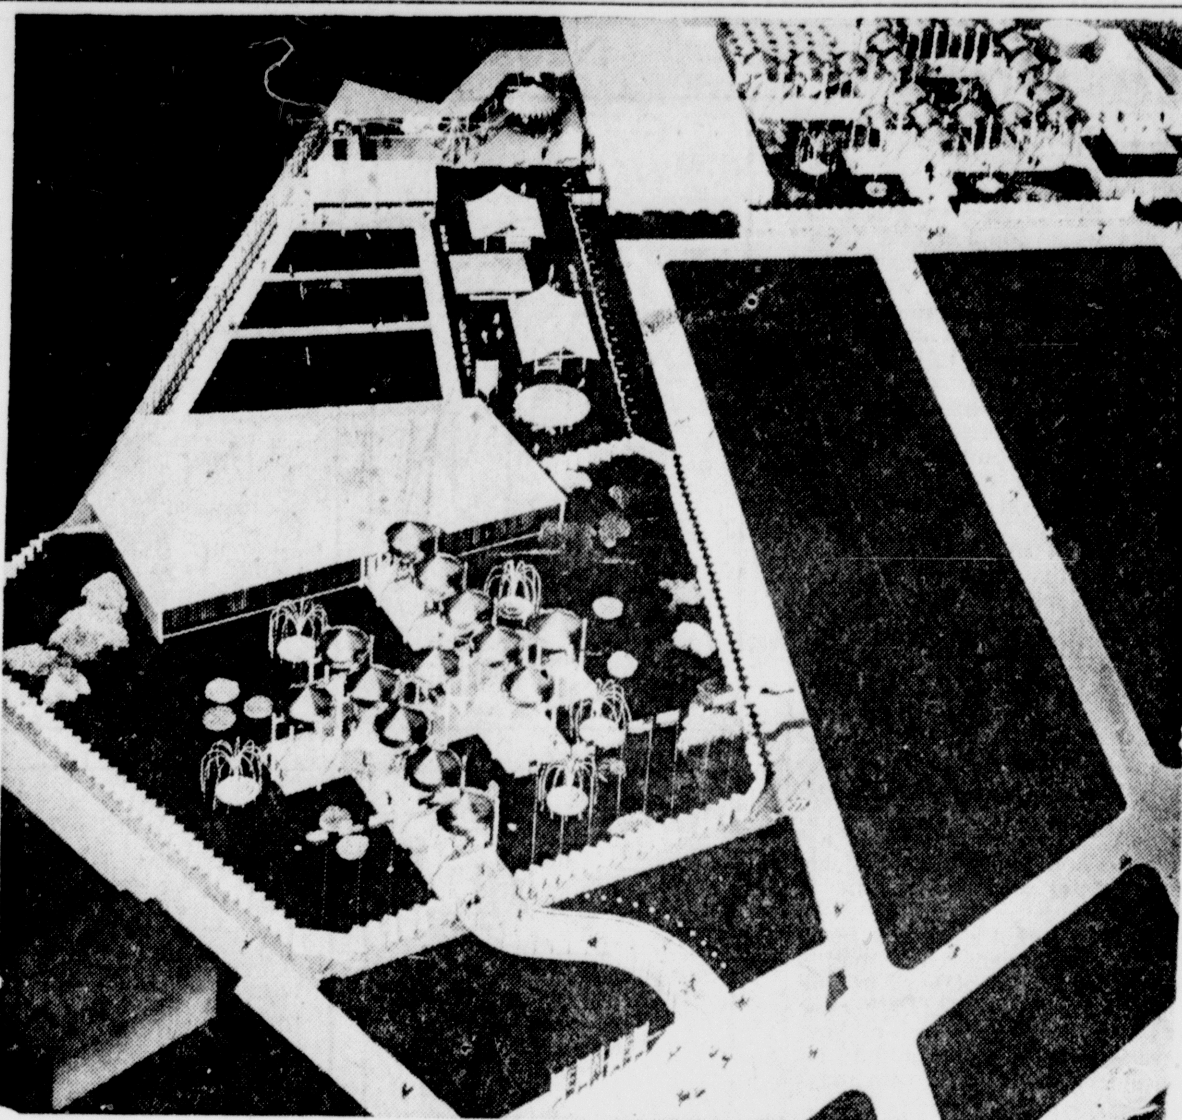

Off the west coast the icebreaker's crew installed a radio responder beacon on Crutcher Island which will aid shipping in and out of the foggy area, and to the north, supported shipping into the U. S. Air Force Base at Thule, South around Cape Farvel and then north to Kulusuk on the east coast, the ship escorted MSTC shipping and rescued the crew of an ice-bound vessel.

Combating the worst East Greenland ice conditions in 50 years, the icebreaker encountered a heavy pack which sheared a propeller blade, ruptured a fuel tank and threatened to ground her in shallow water.

Following repairs the Atka continued her support in seeking emergency landing sites and then left the frozen area for Boston, Sept. 4.

Perhaps the most precious single right of an American citizen is his right to vote, to have a voice in self-government. It is a right that was won, not solely nor even mainly by those who now hold it, but through the blood and sweat and tears of generations past.

In the days ahead we will be reminded to register on one of the above days so we may vote in the election. Such reminding is necessary and if it makes us more aware of our responsibilities it can accomplish a great deal of good.

The worst thing that can befall a citizen, as such, is the loss of his right to vote. That happens when you fail to register. Plan to register this week.

TAXES AND THE 'LITTLE FELLOW'

There's one fact about taxation which can't be repeated too often. The great bulk of the tax burden is not borne by the rich, but by people of very modest means.

Economic Intelligence tells what happened in a recent year. Total federal individual income taxes came to just under $30 billion. Of this, more than 85 per cent was accounted for by the lowest tax bracket of 20 per cent. Less than 15 per cent came from the higher brackets which reach a 91 per cent top.

Putting it another way, if the per capita exemption in that year had been $800 instead of $600, government revenue would have been reduced by a whopping $5 billion, or about 17 per cent. It's the "little fellow", in the aggregate, who is important to the Treasury.

The point is, of course, that there aren't enough rich, and not enough big incomes, to make more than a small dent in the tax burden. It must primarily be borne by families of modest means, simply because there are so many of them. And it is these families which have the most to gain from economy in government.

It is well to remember that government programs do not pay taxes; they eat taxes.

Science is bringing one disease after another under control, but little has been done about quelling adjournment fever in Congress.

A CONTINUING EFFORT

So much has been written and said about the causes and cures of juvenile delinquency that an inquiry just launched by Senator Thomas Hennings of Missouri might appear superfluous. Yet efforts to combat the shocking epidemic of juvenile crime, marked by gang wars, murder and senseless assault, must be continued unceasingly.

It is easy enough to say that New York City's problem is peculiar to New York and is caused by the influx of Puerto Ricans, living in ignorance and poverty and without opportunity. It is easy enough to blame parents and schools for shirking responsibility, and to say we haven't enough policemen and social workers. All that is necessary, say those with ready answers, is a "get tough" policy, and more home work and recreation facilities.

Experts in the field know it is not that simple. They know that poverty and ignorance, which are among the chief causes, are enduring and that many unfit parents will

BAD MANNERS

The king, of course, could do no wrong, but, in due course, most kings were toppled and their places were taken by presidents, premiers, chairmen, dictators and all sorts of persons who rule neither by divine right, heredity, primogeniture or anything but by an election or a seizure of power. Whereas kings were supposed to be anointed, the new rulers come from anywhere and have nowhere to go after they are kicked out.

For instance, Batista was a mighty big shot in Cuba until a Humanismo Revolution sent him into exile in the Dominican Republic where he was all but forgotten. It is said that he is now in Portugal. Peron was one of the very big dictators whose name appeared in the newspapers every day. Peron is still alive, it is said, a forgotten man. Malenkov succeeded Stalin, as few remember. Now, he is somewhere in exile and is never mentioned. Stalin, the greatest of all dictators, left a son when he died, but the son succeeded neither to the father's power nor his wealth.

It was better to be a king in the 19th century than a dictator in the 20th. The job lasted longer; the perquisites were greater; and the public attitude more manly.

Khrushchev who has the manners of an East European peasant dressed up for Sunday, objects to the bad manners of those who heckle him. I watched and listened to the reception of Khrushchev by the Mayor of Los Angeles, Norris Poulson. I thought that the Mayor behaved genteelly. He said to Khrushchev: You will not bury us and we will not bury you. What could be nicer? Khrushchev lost his temper, said that even mayors can read newspapers and that if they did not (that is, in his country where there are no mayors) they would not be elected.

Then, in San Francisco, Khrushchev tore up his program and went to see Harry Bridges. That, indeed, was bringing coals to Newcastle. Khrushchev probably felt more at home with Harry Bridges.

Khrushchev, it looks, is campaigning to make Richard Nixon the Republican candidate for President, and Henry Cabot Lodge, the candidate for Vice President. He complains so much about these two that they must be working overtime for the U. S. A. Apparently Khrushchev does not like those who answer back. Having attained a position equivalent to that of the czar, he expects to be treated royally, which, in its proper meaning, is a recognition of his prerogatives.

Spyros Skouras, the motion picture magnate, is a literate man in the way of the Greeks, with whom I have discussed abstruse questions of philosophy and religion, over goats' cheese on matzos, gave Nikita Khrushchev a hard time. Khrushchev can boast that he was a miner who, under Soviet socialism, worked his way up to rule a great country. But Skouras can boast that from an immigrant who sold bananas and peanuts, he and his brothers worked their way up, under American capitalism, to be heads of large corporations. He did so argue and Khrushchev thought that it was impolite for Skouras to argue with him.

In fact, Khrushchev got even with Skouras. The latter used the visit to do a bit of advertising for a forthcoming picture. On television, Khrushchev was shown mingling with the prettiest movie stars and watching the can-can, a dance in the tradition of France. The next day, Khrushchev pronounced the can-can immoral. Khrushchev is undoubtedly a puritan, as most successful Russians are. Their morality is definitely Calvinistic. They have no side roads, no deviations to the right or to the left. Second generation Communists like Khrushchev or Kozlov, are bound to be rigid in their attitude toward sex. They have no wish to be mistaken for hooligans.

It is in the third and fourth generations that trouble usually starts. Then the demand for consumers' goods becomes pressing. Only war or a rising standard of living can save a government under such circumstances. This Khrushchev understands. Stalin had another alternative, apparently unavailable at the present time: Stalin could and did murder his opposition. Khrushchev is discovering what a high standard of living really means. No matter what front of dissatisfaction with his visit he erects, he still sees what a high standard of living is in food, dress, and housing. He therefore recognizes what consumer pressure can in time become in his own country.

Placing Cork Between
The Teeth May Stop
Air Swallowing Habit

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

The complaint brought up by today's first inquirer is not dangerous to life, but it is common and often causes considerable mortification.

Q—Several doctors have told me that I swallow air and that this bad habit cannot be corrected. This causes belching and much distress. Have you any suggestions?—Mrs. N.

A—Air swallowing is generally classed as a nervous habit and is done subconsciously. It seems likely that most air swallowing is done after meals. It is not possible to swallow air with the mouth open and this leads to a suggestion which I have made before—and about which I have been kidded a bit—namely to place a soft object such as a cork between the teeth for 20 minutes or so after meals. I can't see how this could do any harm and it might serve to help break the habit.

Q—Recently I have noticed that when I go outside in the cold, my middle finger on the left hand becomes cold, numb and turns white. Could this be serious?—Mrs. W.

A—This sounds like a blood vessel disorder known as Raynaud's disease. I think you should have careful studies of the blood circulation in your hands and feet.

Q—My granddaughter has morphia. She is 14 years old. Can you tell me about it?—Mrs. T.

A—This is a kind of skin disease in which there is a localized area of the skin which is firm and bound down to the tissue beneath. Its cause is unknown, but the outlook is pretty good, since spontaneous recovery often occurs. The treatment should be prescribed by a skin specialist, but often includes massage and the administration of vitamin B.

Q—Would you please say something about the disease called porphyria?—Mrs. E. K.

A—This is an interesting disorder described as a constitutional fault or inborn error. It is an inherited condition but not a common one. The most characteristic symptom is extreme sensitivity to sunlight, often with the appearance of blisters. So far as this symptom is concerned the treatment is protection from light. However, other symptoms may be present and the treatment frequently involves other measures which are highly complicated.

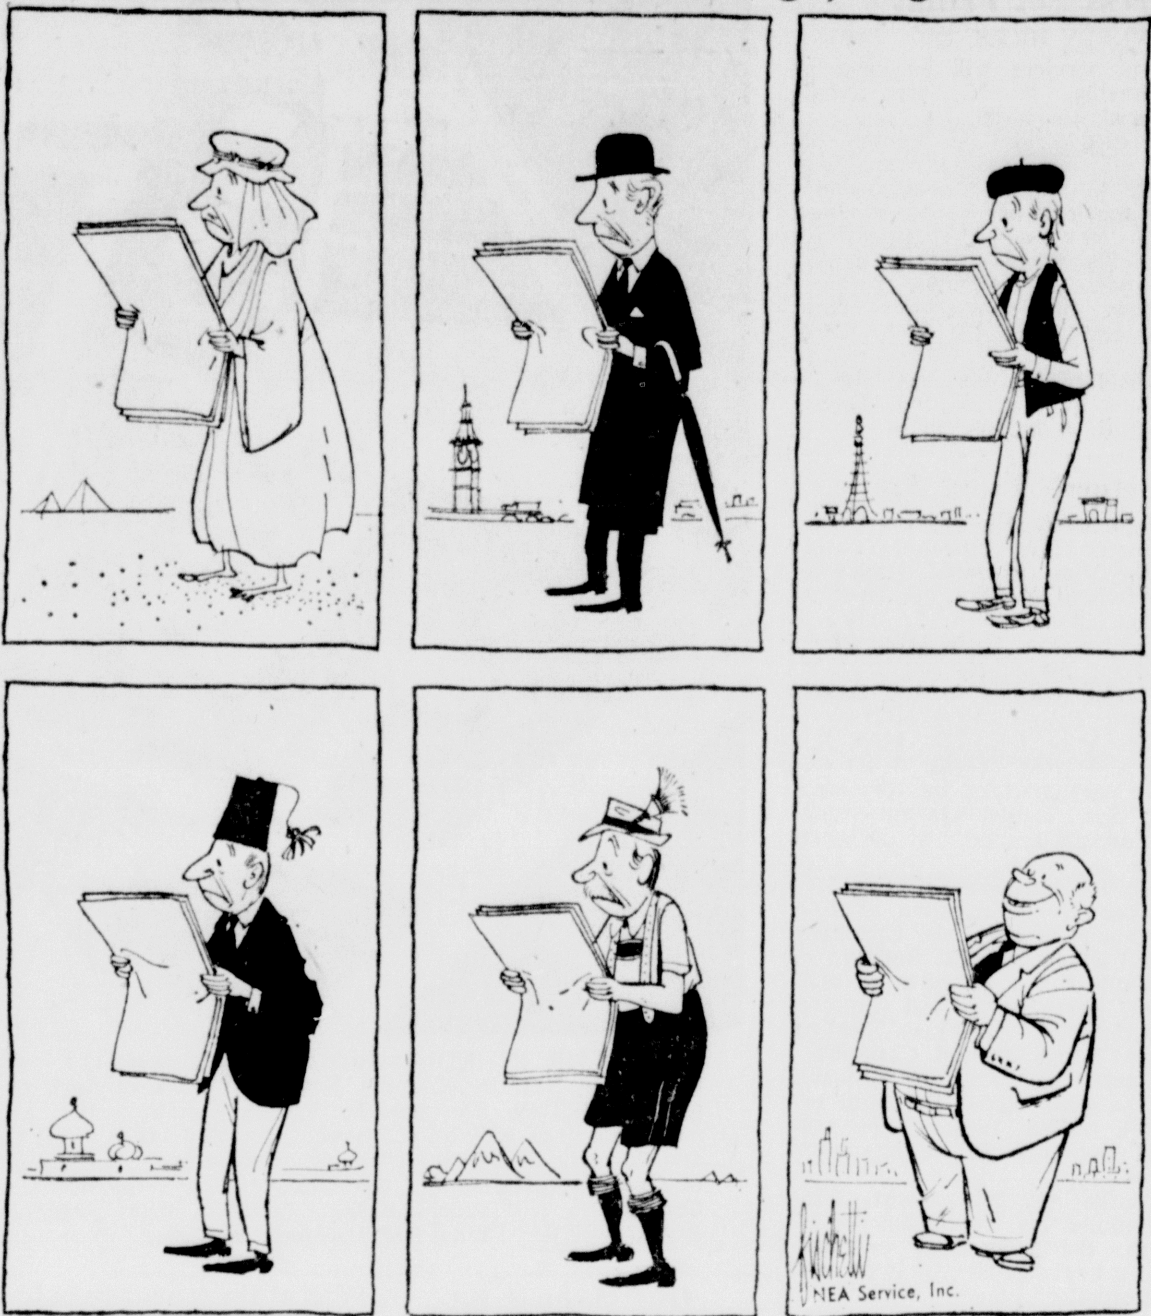

Q—I have hyper-insulinism and my doctor has advised me not to take more than one cocktail. Why is this?—V.

A—The suggestion sounds like a good precaution, since alcohol might make your symptoms worse. There are several causes possible, and you will probably have to be studied carefully over a considerable period of time.

News Item: Khrushchev Angry Again

Washington News

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Most alarming aspect of Nikita Khrushchev's grandiose plan for "general and complete disarmament" is not that it is just propaganda. The world can live with that.

Of far greater import is the fact that Russia could have had this last item voted by the U.N. But the commission has never functioned except as a paper organization. For the Soviet consistently hamstringing progress at Geneva.

A revealing facet on the other items in the 1958 Soviet proposal is that they are all repeated in Khrushchev's latest proposal to the U.N. So they are not new.

The significant fact is that the Soviet could have had all these proposals in effect now—plus the neutral, disarmed inspection zones Khrushchev also calls for.

They could have had that proposal too—if Russian negotiators had accepted the western powers plan offered at the London Disarmament Conference in 1957. That proposal included these principal points:

1. End nuclear weapons testing and manufacture in 1959.
2. Simultaneous reduction of armed forces—first to 2.5 million men for the U. S. and U.S.S.R.—then 1.7 million.

3. Non-nuclear weapons—planes, tanks, guns, ships, everything else—to be reduced by 10 to 15 per cent.

4. A 14-nation board of control, operating under the U.N. Security Council—to administer this program.

FOR A TIME, during the long London disarmament talks of 1956-7, it appeared the Russians might accept this western package as presented by Gov. Harold E. Stassen.

But in July, 1957, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin rejected the plan in a typical reversal of form.

What this reveals is that the Russians never have been sincere in talking disarmament.

But if you want to grasp at straws, it could be interpreted that maybe at last the Russians are ready to agree to something that makes sense.

That is the assumption on which the western powers have to proceed if there is to be continued hope for disarmament. The record shows it is a pretty frustrating and fruitless effort. But here they go for another round.

So They Say..

This administration has no compunction about spending money on telecommunications in Liberia, on irrigation in Spain, on roads and bridges in Malaysia... but if these projects are to operate at home, they are spend-thrift and socialist.

We don't want to keep voters from going to the polls.

My own guess is that we will be talking with them (the Russians)—and I pray it's talking with, and no more than that—for years to come. But maybe we can actually talk the Cold War to death.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

GOTEBORG, Sweden—Now I tell you all about the enslavement of Swedish workers in the political organization called Lo. This is the Swedish equivalent of our own revered AFL-CIO. It is the shakedown apparatus by which the Socialist Party, officially called the Social Democratic Party, draws on the dues of union members, including unwilling captives, for its political campaigns. The Socialist Party is the reigning party in Sweden, but the British Labor Party was thrown out, largely by the votes of unionized workers, and the same may happen here.

If you believe, as I did, the common international gable, the sort of stuff which Europeans believe about "Little Rock" and "McCarthyism," you will believe that the Swedish workers are passionately loyal to their unions. That is not true. I doubt that the proportion of willing and loyal union members is any greater in Sweden than it is in the United States. A young man employed by the City of Goteborg said: "I am a Republican. I oppose the Social Democratic Party. But I have to belong to a union to hold my job, although the union does nothing for me because my pay is fixed by law. I pay $3 a month dues, part of which Lo spends for the political campaigns of the Social Democratic Party."

Union dues are really outrageous in Sweden because the kroner is a solid piece of money with good buying power worth 20 cents, American. You can get a good lunch for 2 kroner in a factory canteen.

"Lo" means "landsorganization," which means Swedish Confederation of Trade Unions. It embraces 90 per cent of the union membership and it frankly boasts in its own literature that it is "a power in the land" and it certainly is by the same process that the AFL-CIO became a power in our land. However, in our beloved, rapscallion country, the closed shop is forbidden by the Taft-Hartley Law and

'Summit' Exchanges Seen As Not Settling Anything

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — He came, he saw—but he didn't conquer. Nikita Khrushchev tested President Eisenhower and found him firm in his convictions that the people of West Berlin cannot be abandoned by the free world. The ultimatum filed by the Soviet Premier last November was not withdrawn.

There may be a "summit" conference, to be sure, in a few weeks, but it will start where the Geneva foreign ministers conference left off. No progress has been made toward a solution unless the better climate created by the Soviet Premier's visit is a kind of progress in itself.

Likewise, it must be said that Nikita Khrushchev stood firm. If he yielded on any point, it might be found some day somewhere in the ambiguity of the many phrases he poured out in his visit to America.

Intentions and Deeds

The Sunday afternoon press conference and the farewell address later on television together with the many opportunities for the Soviet Premier in the last twelve days to give his side of the controversy between the East and the West are indications of a mutual desire, on the surface at least, for improvement in the relations between the Soviet Union and the United States. But this is the way Soviet propaganda works—it gives a glowing description of its intentions, but when it comes down to brass tacks, the only solution that seems peaceful to the Moscow regime involves the surrender by the other side of all its convictions.

The whole trip was a diversionary tactic—an effort to simplify the "cold war" on the propaganda front as if it were merely an argument between two economic systems like socialism and capitalism and as if all the pending questions could be settled easily around the conference table. But even as the Soviet Premier was talking at the press conference this afternoon there came over the United Press International wires the following dispatch:

"Chinese Communist troops from Tibet are taking over land previously considered India's and have reinforced their garrisons along the border."

"Pious Communique"

The "cold war" is still a hot war in many parts of the world. Nikita Khrushchev has done nothing to stop the fighting by the Communists in Laos or along the border of India. He signed nevertheless, a communique of the usual pious kind issued after formal meetings of governmental officials. It said that the Soviet Premier and President Eisenhower had "agreed that all outstanding international questions should be settled not by the application of force but by peaceful means by negotiations."

Yet throughout the world the Soviet subversion continues as billions of rubles are being spent to stir up revolutions in Southeast Asia and in North Africa, and to foment friction between the United States and the countries of Latin America. To cause each side to give up its missile and nuclear weapons is the stated objective of the forthcoming discussions on disarmament, but Mr. Khrushchev didn't say anything about disarming the infiltrators who are operating in behalf of the Communist cause throughout the world on the direct orders of the Soviet government in Moscow.

Berlin Status Unchanged

As for the status of West Berlin, it hasn't been changed by the Khrushchev-Eisenhower conferences. It is still up to the various governments concerned to argue further about this. Presumably there is to be a "summit" meeting soon at Geneva to continue the discussions, after which the matter will again be passed on to the four foreign Ministers to consider.

It's a good thing that President Eisenhower's trip to the Soviet Union has been postponed until next spring. It gives time for the Soviets to build up through the negotiations in the meantime a better basis for consultation with Mr. Eisenhower on outstanding issues—possibly some minor concessions.

What all it comes down to is that those who have argued that there is merit in a series of talks and discussions by high officials of both sides are having their way. It isn't settling anything, but at least it comforts many persons in giving them the feeling that war isn't around the corner. The danger of a big war, however, still remains because Khrushchev's side will really disarm. Meanwhile a smaller war can bring on a bigger one. Hitler thought he could get away with a localized war, but it led to World War II.

Differences in Systems

The Khrushchev answers to numerous questions by the press on Sunday were largely evasive and others were unintentionally meaningful. The Soviet Premier, for instance, said it was true many young people were going to church but out of "curiosity." He said there was freedom of worship in the Soviet Union, but one couldn't help wondering why churches were regarded as a curiosity. Mr. Khrushchev may have forgotten that earlier in the day he had told President Eisenhower he couldn't accompany him to church at Gettysburg because the people in the Soviet Union would be "shocked" if he went. Why, if there's freedom of worship, would it shock anyone to see the Soviet Premier in a church with the President of the United States? The answer is that communism is a doctrine that opposes religion and extols atheism.

The differences between the two systems are not solely economic either. The chief differences are between liberty and slavery, between a system of free elections and a dictatorship, between a God-given code of morality and the code of communism in which the end justifies the means. This includes an outpouring of high sounding phrases about "peaceful co-existence" and plenty of smiles and handshakes and a worldwide propaganda that is insincere on its face. What Khrushchev really wants is materialistic. He is after our strategic goods—just as Hitler was in the 1930's—and the Soviet leader may make a few concessions here and there to get such trade opened up. But the "cold war" will go on primarily because the Communists want it to continue. Where there is no fundamental moral sense on one side there can be no mutual trust. (Reproduction Rights Reserved) their own importance, may go shopping around among the other parties for a coalition or make a revolution in the party.

Union elections are honest, but the union bosses abhor the local status quo sensitive to rank and file opinion and above them the Social Democrats, in control of the national government are imperious toward all common trash.

But the conservatives, the business men as you might say, are clever, cautious fighters. And they speak to the intelligence and upstanding manhood of wage-earners, depicting the Social Democratic bureaucracy as a lot of parasitic double-doms, a good deal like FDR's early plague of braintrusts.

If an intelligent man must pay $5 a month to a union which does nothing for him and pay high, multiple taxes to numerous government authorities for all those baby bonuses, medical and educational "benefits" and subsidized discounts on a normal rent of his apartment, his subsidized education is likely to rear back and raise hell with Lo and the party which it subsidizes with his money. He has so little left after taxes and dues that the state had better house, doctor, educate and feed him because he sure would go into the street shooting otherwise.

They Like It Live

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The Rev. Quentin P. Garman recently sat in a front pew in Christ Church (Lutheran) and watched himself preach the Sunday sermon. The sermon was on television, taped a couple of weeks before for showing on the Sunday morning program "Let There Be Light," sponsored by the San Diego County Council of Churches. The Rev. Mr. Garman used the televised sermon in his own church as an experiment. The congregation's reaction: They'd rather watch and listen to their pastor live.

Suburbs Around New York Show Large Growth

NEW YORK (AP)—The Metropolitan Regional Council says the suburbs surrounding New York City have seen a "tremendous growth" in population from 1950 to 1958.

A study released Sunday, indicates the metropolitan area's total population was 15,350,000 as of last year. The area includes parts of New Jersey, New York and Connecticut.

Long Island showed the biggest increases. Four towns there—Oyster Bay, Babylon, Huntington and Islip—more than doubled their population in the eight-year period. Oyster Bay's increase was 276 per cent.

A town in New York is the unit of government immediately below the county level. Thus the town may include both village and city.

Oyster Bay, whose population rose from 66,920 to 252,000, includes 17 villages.

The council based its studies on reports by the Bureau of Census of New Jersey, the Connecticut Development Commission, the New York State Department of Health and local authorities.

The study indicated that the increases in population were greater in percentages among towns farther away from New York City in the region. Suburbs nearer New York City showed less spectacular growth.

Think It Through

E. F. HUTTON
BOTH WRONG

The steel companies say that the workers use monopolistic power to inflate wage costs and steel prices to the point where foreign steel is underselling domestic steel. Something in that.

The steel workers, on the other hand, say that the "inflation hallelujah" of the companies is a phony.

There is some truth in that statement also. Wages are costs of doing business, but if costs alone determine prices, no producer of anything would ever go broke; there would never be a business recession, or unemployment.

That "wage push" causes inflation is seeing things in a twisted mirror. The chief culprit for causing inflation is Uncle. It is Uncle who has given us irredeemable currency, and huge deficits financed by what is, in effect, the printing of greenbacks.

Without Uncle's flood of cheap dollars, it would be impossible for the steel companies to pay even the current wages, or to charge current prices.

Some day the steel strike will be settled, but you are dead wrong if you think inflation has been solved. Unless we stop Uncle's offenses against sound government, any solutions of capital-labor conflicts will be stop-gaps only.

The real sand in the gearbox of the steel strike is not wages, but featherbedding. The steel companies could pay $3.10 an hour average wages without losing business to foreign producers if their employees produced more steel per hour. The inflation talk obscures this important fact.

Mrs. Lawson Resigns League Post; Mrs. Bromberg Is Named

The executive board of the provisional League of Women Voters of Woodstock, at its September meeting, accepted with deep regret the resignation of Mrs. Harry Lawson as president.

Mrs. Manuel Bromberg was chosen by the board to fill the vacancy.

Mrs. Lawson's husband has been transferred to Bethesda, Maryland where the Lawsons will take up residence in about a month. Mrs. Lawson, with the help of state League officials organized the local provisional group some months ago. Its success and growth have been due largely to her efforts.

Mrs. Bromberg has given up her duties as first vice president and chairman of the foreign policy committee to become the new president.

Mrs. Thomas Horsey, Jr., unit organization chairman, announced that unit meetings for members will be held the first Tuesday afternoon and the first Wednesday evening of each month. The four general meetings will be held to coincide with the Wednesday evening date.

Mrs. Reginald Wilson presented a copy of the citizen's handbook which has been prepared by her Know Your Town committee and is now ready for distribution.

Library Trustees Point Out Problems Of Overdue Books

It was not unusual for Benjamin Franklin to sit up the greater part of the night reading a borrowed book in order to return it early in the morning lest it be missed or wanted, says a Woodstock Library press release.

An interesting statement, this from an earlier time when books were less plentiful than readers and, of necessity, circulated freely and rapidly. Today's supply of books is numerically astounding and the privilege of borrowing books from a good public library, a commonplace miracle; however, any privilege presupposes a sense of responsibility.

Franklin, often overpowered by smug and virtuous, does stress the responsibility of the borrower. Happily, we don't have to become insomniacs in order to read and return books borrowed from the Woodstock Library. It is possible to borrow a book or several books for two weeks and without penalty renew the loan period for another two weeks. Unhappily, the release continues, the ideal give and take of borrowing does not always prevail.

Problem for Trustees
At the last two trustee meetings of the Woodstock Library, the subject of overdue and lost books was discussed at length. Library boards everywhere are discussing the problem, and in some places, taking steps to insure that the books wanted will be on the shelf or soon available.

Strangely enough, the best seller is rarely overdue; this type of book comes and goes week after week with timely precision. The overdue book is usually the time-honored, time-tested classic out of the stacks. These veterans earn the overdue notices and three cent fines. The overdue notices issued by the Woodstock library tripled over the last year, from six a day to around 10 and 20 at present. Given the same rate of increase over the next few years, it might become necessary to employ a few more librarians, just to mail out the overdue notices.

New York city and Kingston libraries have raised their overdue fine to five cents a day. It is too early to tell whether raising the fine has encouraged a prompt return of books or has discouraged the public borrowing of library books. But this is one way to call attention to a real problem.

League Finance Drive Opening Slated for Oct. 1

Mrs. Joseph Steinlauf, finance chairman of the provisional League of Women Voters of Woodstock, has announced the opening of the annual finance drive on October 1.

The League conducts limited rather than community wide fund raising campaigns, approaching only those who are especially interested in the League's work. They do not participate in community chest or united fund drives.

Funds are used in part to support the national and state programs but the great percentage is used in the community program.

The meeting was called to order by Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky. Richard Dreiser was nominated to act as chairman and Mrs. Raymond LeFever appointed to act as secretary.

Adolph H. M. Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—An uncertain stock market churned unevenly in moderate trading early this afternoon.

Key stocks showed gains or losses going from fractions to about a point.

Motors and steels were fairly active and irregular. Rails moved generally higher.

Some of the steels and other industrials seemed to get a temporary lift after President Eisenhower called the steel strike "an intolerable situation" but the stocks made no follow through.

The industrial section of the market showed a slight downside drift.

American Motors, which advanced 8 1/4 last week, was off about a point.

U. S. Steel trimmed a loss slightly and was off about a point after the Eisenhower statement.

General Tire rose a point or better following an excellent earnings report.

The rail average was bolstered by gains of about a point by Southern Pacific.

Phelps Dodge fell around 2. Down about a point were U. S. Gypsum, American Cyanamid and United Aircraft. Goodrich rose about a point.

The Associated Press average of 50 stocks at noon was up 10 cents to $220.10 with the industrials down 20 cents, the rails up 40 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

Government bonds were unchanged.

Fleming Heads Chamber Group To Choose Slate

Sully Fleming, manager of the local Montgomery Ward store, has been named chairman of the nominating committee of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Other members are W. J. C. Buddenhagen, president of the Rondout Savings Bank, Dr. John A. Cooke, Jr., physician, H. Van Wyck Darrow, executive vice president of the Savings & Loan Association of Kingston, Joseph E. O'Connor, electrical contractor, John F. Schuehler, administrative assistant to the manager of the local IBM plant, Edwin T. Strong, district manager of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp.

The nominating committee has the responsibility of naming a slate of from 20 to 50 candidates for the office of director of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce. The committee will meet Tuesday evening, October 6 to prepare the list. Any members having suggestions as to the names of possible candidates should contact any member of the committee or leave the names at the Chamber of Commerce office.

The list will be submitted to the board of directors at their regular meeting on October 13 and submitted to the membership on or about November 1. The 14 candidates receiving the highest number of nominating votes will be placed on an election ballot to be submitted to the membership again on or about December 1. The seven then receiving the highest number of votes will be declared elected for a term of three years starting on January 1, 1960.

On the other hand, the high grade General Motors $3.75 cumulative preferred is selling at about $80 a share with a yield of 4.6 per cent. It is anchored to an annual payment of $3.75 a share. It is a lone wallflower.

Likewise, Dupont common, a chemical giant, is selling for about $270 a share. It too is a blue chip. The current dividend is $6 a share. The yield (even with a possible extra dividend late this year) is around 2 1/2 per cent.

Yet the DuPont $3 1/2 cumulative preferred (a very superior stock) can be bought at $80 a share with a sure yield of 4.3 per cent. This is another wallflower.

The common shares of New York Central carrying plenty of risk as well as speculative promise are presently selling around $28 each even though dividends are uncertain. On a normal day 10,000 shares are bought and sold on the New York Stock Exchange.

But the fair grade New York Central long-term refunding 5 per cent bonds that have always paid their interest promptly are being neglected, selling for about 70 cents on the dollar and offering a current yield of over 7 per cent.

The common stock of United States Steel—one of the most popular investment vehicles in the world—is paying $3 a common share and selling through $100, the yield less than 3 per cent.

The good grade U. S. Steel noncallable $7 preferred, owned by scores of leading insurance companies, can be bought for about $43 a share. At this price the yield is perpetuity is more than 4.7 per cent.

There are hundreds of other wallflowers. In fact, today's security markets are choked with them. For millions of investors who must have good income from their capital and who cannot or will not assume the risks attendant upon common stock

Democratic Race For Leader Seen As Four-Cornered

A Democrat high in party circles, today said there apparently has been no "break" in the four cornered race for Democratic county chairman. Apparently there will be four candidates in the race when Democratic committeemen meet at the court house Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock to elect a county leader.

County Chairman William A. Kelly, who became chairman at the resignation of Former County Chairman Thomas J. Plunket, and is now completing a full two-year term, is seeking to retain the Democratic leadership.

An announced candidate is Rosendale hotelman Joseph S. Reid, who has been actively seeking the support of committeemen. Others who have been mentioned as possible Democratic leaders are John J. Gaffney of Lloyd, minority leader in the Ulster County board of supervisors and also Former State Committeeman Robert Haver of Olive, whose candidacy was launched recently by Grover Winchell. Haver served as state committeeman during the leadership of Plunket and has been chairman of the Town of Olive Democratic Committee.

At the Democratic Committee organization meeting Wednesday evening in addition to election of a county chairman, there will be election of a secretary and treasurer. Norman Kellar of the Town of Esopus now holds the office of secretary and Joseph Koenig is treasurer. Kingston City committeemen will also meet Wednesday evening to select a city chairman. It is anticipated William Mahoney, present city chairman, will be re-named.

Keating Predicts GOP Triumph in President Race

DANBURY, Conn. (AP) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) likening the 1960 presidential struggle to a rocket race, says the Democrats will fizzle but a "triumphant missile will soar from the Republican launching pad."

Without naming names, Keating suggested he considers New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Vice President Richard M. Nixon his party's top men for the presidential nomination.

Speaking at a fund-raising dinner Saturday for western Connecticut Republicans, Keating — still using space jargon — made it clear whom he meant by giving his party's most imposing "missiles" the names "Roaring Richard" and "Hot Rock."

And while the Republicans are soaring triumphantly, he predicted, the Democrats will find that none of their half dozen or so possible candidates will have "sufficient thrust to go into orbit."

Health for All

Things to Come

If you're a science fiction fan, as we are, you've read at least one of those stories in which people live to be hundreds of years old without any of the disadvantages which go with being elderly today.

In the last two decades, fiction has had a tough time keeping ahead of the fact in many respects. But the aging process is still an unsolved puzzle. Perhaps some day scientists will be able to prevent or reverse aging. Meanwhile, we must help ourselves.

There is much we can do right now to prolong our lives and ensure a happy, healthy, and active old age.

Perhaps most important is to make a habit of an annual physical checkup. Many of the ailments which rob oldsters of the joy of living would never become disabling if they were detected and dealt with early. And some, like tuberculosis, cancer, glaucoma, high blood pressure, and diabetes give rise to no apparent symptoms in the early stages. Only a doctor can detect them.

Healthful eating habits are important to later well-being, too. It has been said that we in the U. S. are both overfed and poorly nourished. That's because some of us eat too much of the wrong kind of food and not enough of the right kind. An adequate diet includes, every day: dairy products, meat, fish, or poultry; green and yellow vegetables; and bread and cereals. A diet including all of these foods will not add unwanted pounds if rich cakes, pies, and pastries are omitted.

Boredom and loneliness are hazards of the later years. Both can be avoided if we start now to develop hobbies which involve other people—chess and bridge clubs, volunteer welfare work, music and art groups, for instance.

It's said that we begin to age as soon as we are born. Certainly it is never too soon to prepare to enjoy what can be the best years of our lives.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by Ulster County TB and Health Association, 124 Green Street.

Cross on Stamp

BOSTON (AP)—The cross is back on a United States postage stamp. The new 2½ cent Bunker Hill stamp shows the flag under which the colonists fought the battle of Bunker Hill. The cross of St. George is prominent on the banner. The cross appeared on the first United States commemorative stamp, honoring Columbus in 1892. It showed Franciscan monks accompanying Columbus carrying a cross to plant in the new world.

Of Baths and Wages

By FRANK TRIPP

"You're forever telling about the 'good old days'; why don't you tell about the starvation wages, life on salt pork and potatoes, the days of no automobiles, no movies, no TV—not even a bathtub," barks a critic.

Okay, I will. We'll leave the "starvation wages" till last and begin with the bathtub; rather with its predecessor—a wooden washtub in the center of the kitchen floor.

We hadn't seen a metal tub yet; nor a bathroom. The kitchen contained the one-spot water supply of the kitchen sink. Also the room that could be counted upon being warmest in the winter was the kitchen.

Saturday night was bath night. Any midweek bathing was from a washbowl filled from a pitcher of cold water on a washstand in the bedroom.

Saturday night was an evening of high carnival. The water reservoir at the back of the kitchen range was filled, the wash boiler was filled, every sizeable bucket, pan and kettle was filled. The top of the stove was covered with receptacles; then the draft was turned full on.

THE KIDS got theirs first; with a scrubbing brush and yellow laundry soap that turned their skin red. They yelled from eyes, nose and mouth full of suds, but the barbaric procedure went merrily on till they hustled up a cold stairway to a near zero room and jumped into the depths of a massive feather bed; that soon nestled them as warm and cozy as could the most modern electric blanket.

Then, by seniority, or however the household operated, the others in turn took their share of the hot water, tempered it with cold from the pump. They stood erect in the wooden tub, gave their own hide the punishment the kids had suffered, emptied their bath water into the sink, washed out the tub, whistled that the coast was clear for the next victim—and hustled to their bed.

This is the crude, inconvenient way our forebears kept their bodies clean, my way until I was 12. They kept their minds and their wits clean similarly — by plain old fashioned work and self reliance.

PEOPLE WERE contented because their lives were as complete as their neighbors'. They were at peace and secure because they were strong, self-reliant individuals who were able to care for their own. They stayed that way because to lean upon the state for help or security was a family disgrace.

How times have changed! I will not debate the relative comforts of those days and these, for the critic wins before we start. But if he will put it on a basis of peace of soul, opportunity and achievement, I'll give him ten to one odds—and lick him—even on wages.

For it was these people who took baths in the kitchen who saw or made the opportunities which developed every comfort and convenience that my friend enjoys. Edison, Pasteur, Lincoln, Fulton and Bell; the list is almost endless, down to our own grandfathers and fathers.

BUT WE HAVEN'T touched "starvation wages," have we? I knew a man who never in his life earned better than $3.00 a day. He was in his prime in the 1880s.

He raised a family of five, two of them boys. He owned his home, finally the house next door. Both of his boys went through college. He never had a dollar that his hands didn't earn—or the hands of his children. But they were not phony dollars; they bought a dollar's worth at prices a fraction of today's. His case is but one of thousands.

Will my friend please contemplate how closely at $3.00 a day he could come, in these inflation-ary times of dependence upon government, to the achievement of this man of the 80s. No cheating, passing the buck; he must do it on $3.00 a day and keep solvent.

I rest my case on the value of dollars—and the willingness of people to work for them.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Only marginal risks need fear being turned down by the small loan companies because of scarce money. That's the opinion of a cross section of consumer finance companies.

They say funds will be available, although at higher rates, despite any efforts to keep credit tight.

Already at Record

The total of outstanding consumer credit will grow despite that, almost all of those in the field believe. It's already at a record high.

The Securities & Exchange Commission says consumer debt of individuals rose 2.2 billion dollars in the April - May - June quarter. And latest Federal Reserve Board figures put total installment debt at 36½ billion dollars.

A poll of executives of small loan companies on the eve of the annual meeting of the National Consumer Finance Assn. in Seattle Tuesday shows all agreeing that the big companies expect to find the necessary funds to finance increased credits, expect a high rate of repayment and a rapid turnover of money. But here are some of the changes the coming year may see:

See These Changes

L. M. Curtiss, president of America Investment Co., St. Louis, says, "It will be easier for larger companies to obtain additional credit than for smaller ones."

Agreeing with him is H. E. Mac-

Donald, president of Household Finance Corp. of Chicago, who says increasing demand for bank loans will mean that "some individual companies without satisfactory bank lines may find it necessary to curtail their operations."

But Stephen B. Straske, president of Sun Finance & Loan Co., Tampa, Fla., says, "Bankers are now turning down capital investment loans but not curtailing loans for consumer credit because of its importance to our economy."

And L. M. Boyd, president of Thrift Industrial Bank, Denver, thinks the consumer's record for repayment will aid the consumer finance business find the money it will need.

Larger Loans Is Trend

To this Leland M. Feigel, president of Interstate Finance Corp., Evansville, Ind., adds: "The trend toward credit is so unmistakable that a downturn in its legitimate users will not be possible." He also notes "a general trend today of larger loans."

How are borrowers reacting to the trend toward tighter credit and higher interest rates?

M. L. Goeglein, vice president of Pacific Finance Corp., Los Angeles, says: "Where incomes rise fairly steadily, and people are optimistic about continuance of the rise, consumers are likely to consider future installment payments, including charges, as less of a burden than full cash outlay at the time of purchase."

Sees Tougher Days

Richard K. Steinman of Little Loans Corp., Phoenix, Ariz., says "Tight money shouldn't affect the good consumer borrower, only the marginal ones."

But Lyle S. Woodcock, vice president of Liberty Loan Corp., St. Louis, sees "eventually higher costs will have to be passed on to the customer. Legislation increasing rates and ceilings will be required in some states to induce capital to meet the ever-increasing demand for installment loans."

And he holds: "Past progress of this nation has proven that we can have prosperity and at the same time have low interest rates. We have doubts as to the wisdom of present monetary policies."

Will Distribute Kits on Fallout And Radioactivity

School officials in cities, towns and rural districts throughout the State of New York will be called upon to disseminate information on radioactive fallout and on the measures that can be taken for protection, it was announced today.

To this end the State Education Department will distribute to the schools, kits of materials to assist school officials, including the directors of Adult Education, in the task of acquainting the public with accurate knowledge of the character and effects of fallout from nuclear explosions, as well as measures that must be taken to cope with the problem.

Included in the kits will be copies of the report on "Protection from Radioactive Fallout," prepared by the special task force committee named by Governor Rockefeller to initiate recommendations on the fallout problem. This was the committee headed by Oscar M. Ruebhausen.

The Education Department, at the same time transmitted to the school officials directives from Lt. Gen. C. R. Heubner, director of the New York State Civil Defense Commission, noting the commission's requirements which call for regular periodic shelter drills for the pupils in all schools in the state.

The Civil Defense Commission also directs that because, as yet, most schools do not have adequate fallout protection, school officials, in public, private and parochial schools must take immediate steps to plan "Go Home" movements for the pupils. These movements to get pupils to their homes would be carried out in an emergency where warning time of 30 minutes or more would be possible.

The "Go Home" movements would be planned jointly by school and Civil Defense officials in each community.

The commission in its directives calls also for more intensified Civil Defense training in the schools as a part of the regular curricula.

The Polish name for Poland, "Polska," means "country of the plains." Most of Poland is a broad lowland, sloping to the northwest. The Carpathian and Sudetes Mountains, to the south, provide the chief elevation. Northern Poland has many lakes and marshes and much of the soil is sandy or stony and is not a good area for agriculture.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

MABEL DEPUY

Gardiner Man
Named to B of E

Richard Fall of Gardiner was appointed this week as a member of New Paltz Board of Education to fill the unexpired term of Robert Donnan who has been transferred to Nevada, it was announced at the regular monthly meeting of the school board.

Mrs. John Jacobson, president of the board, explained the reasons for choosing Fall. They felt that Gardiner should have representation and that his background was equivalent to Mr. Donnan's.

Mrs. Selma Streifer, typing teacher, was given an opportunity to speak in her own behalf regarding the board's decision, last month, not to recognize seven of her 30 credits accumulated which entitles her to a master's degree and an automatic raise in salary of $300 yearly. The board felt that because these seven credits in question were earned in the study of piano that they had no practical value to her teaching of typing. Mrs. Streifer claimed that her courses had been planned by Columbia University and passed a letter among the board members from her professor at Columbia addressed to Principal Frederick Dippel explaining the relationship of typing to piano and recommended that her credits be recognized.

Streifer asked the board by what standards they judged credits when deciding their value. Gerald DuBois said that the practical relationship had to be considered. Mrs. Jacobson said that the education committee will make a further study in the case.

Charles Van Alst, chairman of the transportation committee, reported that three of the buses are carrying a capacity load and in the event that they exceed the legal limit, larger buses can be switched from other routes. The legal limit is 20 per cent standing room. Therefore on a 60-passenger bus, the limit would be 72. He said that the buses are more heavily loaded in the fall, due to the migrant workers' children coming to school.

William Conner of Gardiner, who drives and maintains one of the new district-owned buses requested an increase of $200, bringing his salary to $1,000 a year. He makes two trips a day back and forth to Gardiner, maintains the bus and provides a garage. The board felt that the request was within reason and approved the request.

Other requests for increases in pay approved included Mrs. Katherine Jenny, $100 a year. This request was granted on the basis of extra time spent coaching the cheerleaders. Mrs. Marion Lawler was also granted a $100 a year raise. Mrs. Lawler is the cafeteria manager and Mr. Hamilton, business manager, recommended her raise, saying that she was "well worth it."

Principal Dippel reported that rental rates for musical instruments increased this year from $12 to $15. He said that in some cases where there are three children in a family, all renting instruments, it created a hardship and recommended that a sliding scale of $15 for the first child, $10 for a second and $5 for a third or more be adopted. The board agreed to this plan. As the district does not own enough instruments for everyone, some are rented at a rate of $24 a year. Last year the district rented 20. DuBois recommended that the board approve purchase of its instruments, saving money in the long run. No action was taken, but Hamilton was instructed to check into the matter of prices and costs.

All members of the board except John Ashton agreed to allow Robert Breary to serve as an inspector of elections on Election Day.

The board approved payment of $447.52 to R. J. Welsh and Son, plumbing contractors and $665.00 to Edgar Beebe for football insurance.

Dippel read a letter from the Mid-Hudson Study Council inviting board members to an orientation conference for new board members and all others who cared to attend. The conference will be held October 14 at the college here.

ship chairman, Joanne Barg; secretary-treasurer, Judy Babb; publicity chairman, Jennifer Leaning; recreation chairman, Edward Klotzberger; and transportation chairman, Jamie Harrison.

Chamber Learns
Facts of Police
Radio System

John F. Finn, representative of General Electric's Communication Equipment Department spoke Monday night at the regular meeting of New Paltz Chamber of Commerce.

In response to the member's interest in a more efficient police communication system for New Paltz, Finn described the equipment made by his company and explained some of its uses.

He explained that a basic radio unit, including a receiver and transmitter in the police car and a receiver and transmitter base unit would cost approximately $1,400. It could be installed so that a call to the patrolman on duty would flash a red light on the police car or sound the horn in case he were not in the car.

The Chamber voted to have Finn submit an equipment estimate and details about operations to the group.

Other topics at this meeting included a report on the shopper's survey conducted here several months ago. It was reported that a representative of the New York State Department of Commerce will attend the November meeting of the Chamber to discuss the statistics compiled from the survey. Members of the Village Board, New Paltz Town Board, along with all New Paltz merchants, will be invited to the November meeting to hear the report.

Chamber members also discussed briefly plans for the Harvest Festival Weekend scheduled for October 1. More definite plans will be announced later.

The Chamber publicity committee reported that various representatives of the Catskill area were planning a general brochure to distribute in answer to inquiries about vacation activities in this region. When the brochure is completed, the New Paltz Chamber plans to prepare an insert which would list resort areas and other related businesses in the immediate New Paltz area.

Dr. Jack Yuthas, recently appointed dean of students at the college here, was a guest at this meeting.

What's in the Air —

A helicopter that floats as well as it flies and a new autogiro making a bid in the personal plane market.

IT FLOATS—A Vertol 107 twin-turbine helicopter shows it's as much at home on water as in the air during a "dunking" test. Called the most advanced transport helicopter now flying, the 107 features a sealed fuselage which enables it to float. Stubs which support the landing gear and the fuel tanks of the aircraft provide stability while in the water.

HIGH JUMPER—Able to leap vertically into the air and land the same way, and called simpler and safer to fly than a helicopter or a conventional airplane, the Umbaugh-18 rotary wing aircraft is being put through tests leading to production early next year. Essentially an autogiro, the two-place craft gets its lift from a free-spinning rotor as it is driven forward by a pusher propeller. On take-off, however, power can be applied to rotor, enabling the ship to jump 15 feet or more straight up.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Someone asked the other day about the Kennedy observatory.

It was glass enclosed in the tower of the City Hall, some 100 feet from the ground. It is said, it was built on July 14, 1892. Thomas McKeon, it was said, was the carpenter who built the stairway and platform leading to it. The City Hall cost some $75,000. I think the fire of June 4, 1927 put an end to this observatory, which no doubt would be of great interest and benefit today, as the sky is as busy as our highways.

In 1828 the D and H Canal opened for business which put Rondout and Kingston on the commercial map. It was in the month of October. Also that same year the same month, Noah Webster finished his "American Dictionary of the English Language." He started to work on it in 1800 and it seems those whose names are unknown today, but thought they knew it all then, laughed at him, as they did at Robert Fulton. Although few shelves are without Webster's dictionary there are many who do not remember his first name. Noah Webster was born 1758 and died in 1843.

Noah Webster came from good Connecticut farm people who mortgaged their farm so he could go to Yale. After his graduation he taught school, then he studied law and was admitted to the bar. 1783-85 he published a "Grammatical Institute of the English Language" in three parts, a spelling book, a grammar, and a reader. This was the first American work of its kind, and it soon reached the school book shelves across the nation.

He was able to repay his family for before 1861 the sale of the spelling book had reached more than a million copies a year. The American dictionary which Noah Webster put out in 1828, working on it some 25 years, contained 12,000 words, and 30,000 to 40,000 definitions that had not appeared in any previous dictionary. Noah Webster had announced his dictionary at the age of 42, and on his 70th birthday, Oct. 16, 1828 he was able to lay down his quill pen, and say it was finished.

To those who are so interested in education of children, buildings, gyms, heating systems and everything else that goes with modern school system must remember that the type and kind of books the children read and are taught from, stand first on the list of education. Lincoln and Benjamin Franklin did not go to modern schools in school buses but they were mighty particular what they read.

The following taken here and there from Harry R. Warfel's "Noah Webster, School Master to America." "Webster became our greatest schoolmaster. He passed successfully from the desk of a Connecticut log schoolhouse to the lecture platform, to the editorial chair, and finally to the home library table as the arbiter of every English-speaking reader's and writer's diction. Noah Webster never sought or obtained high political position... he was a scholar and wielded his pens as a weapon in the perennial warfare against scientific error, mental torpor, etc., early in life he called himself 'The Prompter, the man who sits behind the scenes to correct errors or assist the memory.'"

Industrialist Gives
1½ Million to Cornell

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—Cornell University will build a 1½-million-dollar metallurgical engineering building with funds provided by an Illinois industrialist.

The university announced Sunday the donor was Francis N. Bard, president of the Barco Manufacturing Co. at Barrington, Ill., manufacturer of industrial equipment and tools.

Bard is a 1904 graduate of Cornell and is a member of the Cornell University Council. He endowed a chair of metallurgical engineering in 1947.

Smart Thinking Beats Contract

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Dave King is one of the fine young players from the Chicago area. In today's hand Dave did a lot of thinking against a prosaic two heart contract and finally came up with the defense to beat it.

West opened the jack of diamonds and after Dave played the three South took his king.

South saw that his contract was in mild jeopardy but also that there was no sure thing play at his disposal so South drew trumps with three leads and led the queen of spades.

Dave took his king and his first impulse was to run off his high diamonds. A little thought showed that this line of play would never defeat the two heart contract but there was one possible line of defense that would succeed.

Dave led the nine of diamonds in the hope that his partner's one remaining diamond would be the

Steel Shortage Cause Of GM Radiator Layoff

LOCKPORT, N. Y. (AP) — A layoff of 1,000 hourly workers at the 4,500-employee Harrison Radiator Division of General Motors Corp., will begin next Friday.

Firm Supplied Strikebreakers To Newspapers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—At least one firm in the nation is engaged exclusively in supplying strikebreakers to newspapers, a State Labor Department committee reports. The state industrial commissioner wants it stopped.

"The organized provision of strikebreakers by a commercial firm is no longer an accepted part of labor-management relations in our state," Commissioner Martin P. Catherwood said Sunday.

He recommended state legislation to require registration and public disclosure of the activities of such organizations operating in New York.

He said such firms tended to undermine collective bargaining and promote bitterness in labor-management relations. A special investigating committee of the department, in a 41-page report, said the firm was owned and operated by Bloor Schleppey of Zionsville, Ind. The committee said Schleppey was assisted by Miss Shirley Klein, presently an executive of Westchester County Publishers Inc., publisher of the Macy group of newspapers.

In public hearings held earlier this year in New York City and Buffalo, the committee investigated strikes against the Macy newspapers group, Grismco Publications Inc. of Glen Cove, L. I., publisher of seven weekly newspapers in Nassau County, and the Lockport Union-Sun and Journal Inc., publisher of a daily newspaper in Lockport.

The committee said the Schleppey-Klein organization supplied a total of 117 strikebreakers to the three firms.

The Schleppey-Klein organization recruits strikebreakers throughout the country and moves them from place to place, the committee said.

The committee said an employer had a right to continue operation of his business during a strike by hiring replacements for the strikers. However, the committee said, "this concept does not encompass the hire of strikebreakers through an agency which has no independent basis for existence."

A strikebreaking organization, the committee said, disrupted orderly labor-management relations because:

1. Crews of strikebreakers standing by during collective bargaining put pressure on the negotiations, tended to "withdraw employer incentive to bargain collectively," and tended to bring on a strike.

2. The assurance to the employer of a supply of workers should his own employees strike "incites to irresponsible and negative behavior instead of good faith interchange of proposals."

3. The strikebreaking organization gave employees the opportunity to hire workers on a temporary basis to break a strike "with little or no expectation of continuing these employees in his employment."

4. It was unfair and discriminatory to regular employees to pay temporary employees at rates "greatly in excess of those which are offered to the striking employees."

The committee said the Schleppey-Klein strikebreakers received weekly pay checks of from $300 to $400, plus hotel expenses and $60 weekly for food and other costs.

The International Typographical Union struck the Macy newspapers Dec. 9, 1957. The 150 union workers were replaced immediately. The committee said the firm is publishing its papers with non-ITU members.

The Grismco strike began in December 1956 with a work stoppage involving ITU members. Publication was continued with replacements until March 1957, when the replacements struck. The committee said the replacements became dissatisfied when their expense allowances were dropped.

The Lockport strike began April 18, 1956, during negotiations between the newspaper and the International Stereotypers and Electrotypers Union, which recently was certified as bargaining agent.

Six replacements were hired for strikers and the strike was called off in July. None of the strikers was re-hired, the committee said.

Woman Using Judo Flips Ex-Convict, Asks More Time

NEW YORK (AP)—A 6-foot-3 195 pound ex-convict picked on the wrong girl when he grabbed 5-foot-8 135-pound Mrs. Catherine Dinello, 24, as she started to enter her Brooklyn apartment Sunday. She sent him flying over her right shoulder with a bodyflip and tackled him when he tried to flee. The stunned assailant escaped only after he hit Mrs. Dinello with a rock.

Police picked up Robert W. McManus, 31, a little later. He was held on a charge of felonious assault. Mrs. Dinello, who learned judo from her husband, an ex-Navy instructor, said at McManus' arraignment.

"I'd like to take him on for five minutes and beat the living daylights out of him."

Loyal Troops Routing Rebels in North Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Government troops have driven pro-Communist rebels across the Nam Ma River in northern Laos, five miles from the border of Communist North Viet Nam, a pilot reported today.

A pilot who carried military supplies to the north said that three days ago government forces, after little rebel resistance, recaptured the town of Muong Het, 30 miles north of the royal army's headquarters at Sam Neua and only five miles from the frontier.

Recovery of Muong Het would be a major achievement for the government. It was the first town to fall in the path of Lao advance of Aug. 30, the biggest operation of the 10-week-old war.

Complaint Withdrawn In Haley Assault

A charge of third degree assault lodged against Edward Haley, 33, a laborer, of 12 East O'Reilly Street, by his wife, Janice, was withdrawn today by the complainant and Special City Judge Arthur Ewig dismissed the charge.

The judge warned Haley that the next time he appears in court on a similar charge he will not permit the complainant to withdraw the charge. Mrs. Haley accused her husband of punching her and knocking her down during a quarrel at their home early Saturday.

Haley's address was listed as 28 Adams Street in an article published on Saturday.

Harrell Gets 30 Days for Trouble In Midtown Area

A 24-year-old city resident was sentenced to the Ulster County jail today for 30 days after he pleaded guilty before Special City Judge Arthur Ewig to a charge of disorderly conduct lodged by Police Sergeant Thomas Tomshaw.

Moses Harrell, of 53 Van Buren Street, was arrested early today after Cornelia Barnes, 23, of 57 Van Buren Street, complained that she was assaulted by the defendant.

Tomshaw said he was on Broadway near Cedar Street when the woman shouted to him that she had been assaulted by Harrell. The sergeant investigated and while questioning the defendant, Harrell became abusive, tried to hit the woman and uttered threats.

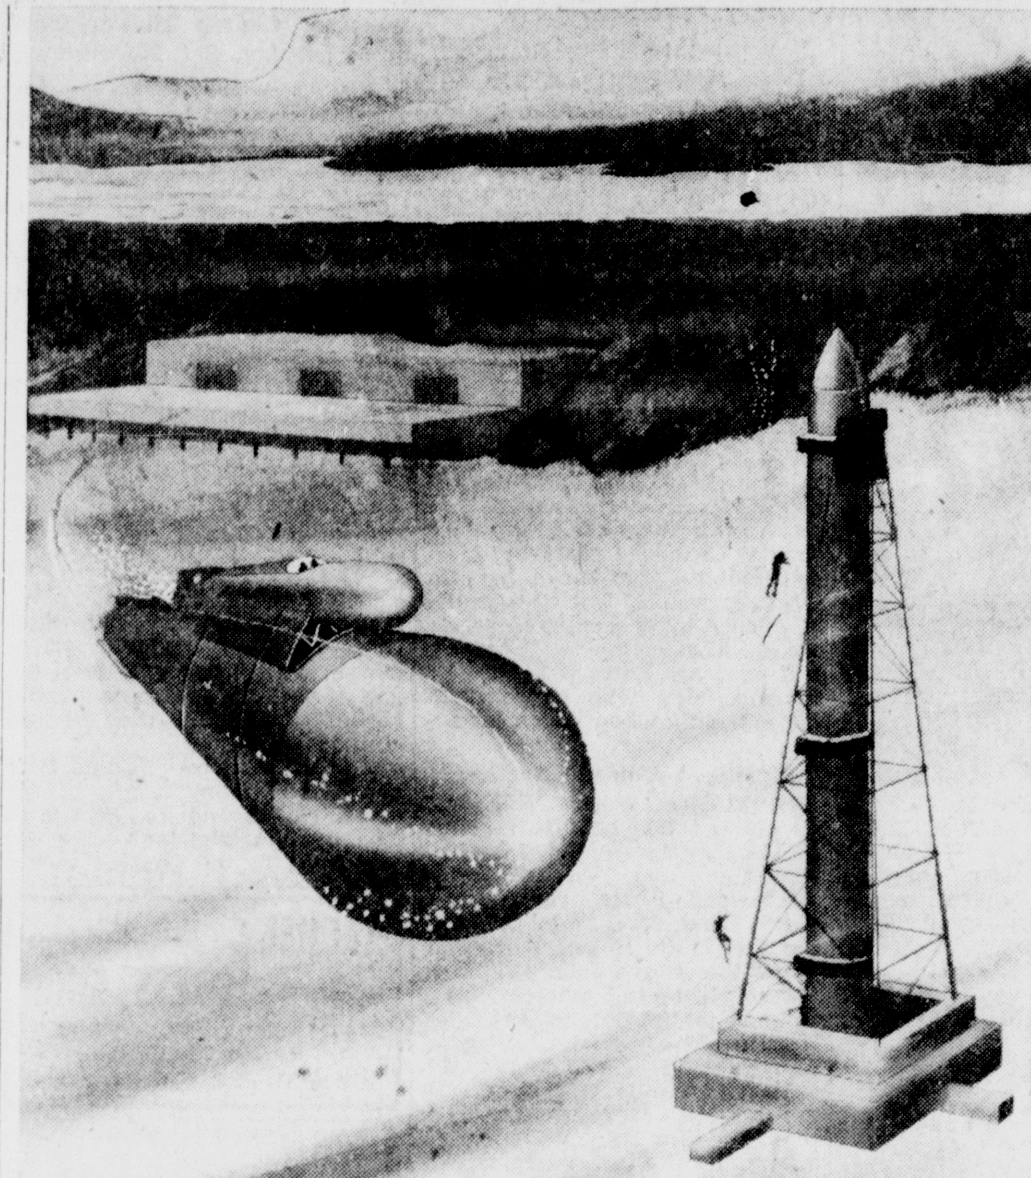

Harrell was seized and handcuffed and taken to police headquarters for questioning. In an affidavit, the woman said she was asleep on a couch in the living room of her home when Harrell slapped her face and threatened her. The complainant said she ran from the house and was on her way to police headquarters at the time she saw Tomshaw.

— Red Sea in the Baltic —

The Russians have built underwater missile launching sites in the Baltic Sea, according to reports published in Ground Support Equipment magazine. The missiles are of the "Golem" (Comet) type, believed to have a range of 750 miles—enough to blanket the European continent. The launching complexes, located in coastal waters with entrances on land, were probably prefabricated, then assembled by underwater construction crews. The Reds are known to have taken over much German underwater missile gear from the research center at Peenemunde after World War II and have been firing rockets from under the sea for some years. Drawings, left and above, depicting the possible appearance of these sites, are courtesy Erik Bergaust, editor, GSE magazine.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

Author of "Children Are People" and "Etiquette," etc.

Writing to Movie Stars
Dear Mrs. Post: Do you approve of girls writing fan letters to movie stars? I occasionally write to a favorite movie star and my mother thinks it is in bad taste.

Answer: A very short note of intelligent appreciation of a part well played is a delight to every actor as well as actress. Unhappily, however, the usual letters sent by young girls to actors are very silly, in which case the answer is definitely, "No!" Perhaps the best deterrent I can offer is to remind these girls that those actors who are really very popular cannot possibly open more than a fraction of the letters themselves, but they must be opened by one or more secretaries. The young girl writing will have her letter read first by someone else, who hands it to the star only when worth his attention.

Signing A Funeral Register
Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me how a register should be signed in a funeral home?

Answer: Write your name Mary Blank if that is the way the family knows you. But if Mary Blank would only be confusing to them, whereas Mrs. John Blank would identify you, then write the latter. A name signed in a register is not the same as signing a message, in which case it would be improper to prefix Mrs. to your name.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-26, entitled "Serving Cocktails," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E. P., care of The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York, 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Memorial Panes Are Dedicated at Redeemer Church

At a special service of dedication Sunday morning, the congregation of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer witnessed the blessing of the final three of the 12 memorial stained glass windows in the nave of the church depicting the twelve apostles of Christ.

The event marked the completion of a four-year program in which members of the parish provided the art-glass windows as memorials to their deceased loved ones. Each of the 12 shows the figure of an apostle carrying in his hand some object representing his special work in the history of the early church.

Above each figure in the gothic arch is the traditional symbol of that apostle.

During the same period one of the large transept windows depicting events in the life of Christ was dedicated and another is scheduled for installation in early 1960.

The office for the blessing of church windows was read by the pastor, the Rev. David C. Gause, D.D., who explained the symbolism of the windows and paid tribute to those in whose memories they were given, namely, the Spangenberg family, George R. and Anna S. Albertson and Robert M. Campbell Sr.

Onteora Central, Cornwall-on-Hudson Play 6-6 Deadlock

GOOD TACKLE—An unidentified Cornwall player brings Ed Krein of Onteora to earth after a short gain. Five other visiting players are ready to give aid, if needed. Both clubs scored touchdowns in the third period and played to a 6-6 tie. (Freeman photo)

Both Sides Get Touchdowns in Third Quarter

Trading touchdowns in an action packed third period, Onteora's Indians and Cornwall-on-Hudson battled to a 6-6 tie Saturday in a good football contest at Boiceville.

After Joe DiGiovanni had bolted his team into the lead with a nifty 32-yard thrust through the middle of the line, the visitors took to the air and finally scored on a 17-yard pass play from quarterback Bob Gillich to end Tony Bartalone.

The Indians, who played their second straight strong defensive tilt, held the invaders during the first half as the ball didn't go much beyond the midfield stripe.

Joe Scores

After the intermission, Onteora took the kickoff and put the pigskin in play on the 26. Three running plays by quarterback Dick Bartsch and Ed Krein put it on the Cornwall 32 and from there DiGiovanni scored. He picked up his blockers at the line of scrimmage and raced to the end zone. An attempted pass for the extra point was broken up.

The visitors struck back. They used a sustained drive that started deep in their own territory and on third down from the Onteora 17, Gillich passed to Bartalone. He caught it on the 10 and scampered to pay dirt. The kick which could have won the contest, went wide to the left.

Cornwall controlled the football during the final period, but the forward wall of the home side rose to the occasion and stopped the visitors from Orange County to a standstill.

Area Grid Stars Perform Well With College Teams

Marv Engle of Kingston, Dick Pencek of Port Jervis and Monty Stickle of Poughkeepsie, three former All-DUSO football stars, saw action with their collegiate clubs on Saturday.

Engle and Pencek helped Rutgers University trip Princeton, 8-6, in one of the upsets of the day. Engle played end on the third team and saw limited action. The sophomore, who was the "Player of the Year" in the DUSO League several seasons ago, has a good future at the school.

Pencek, second string halfback, intercepted a pass in the closing moments of the game on his own five yard line to help the Scarlet preserve the lead. The senior is playing his second year of varsity ball.

Stickle was a heartbeat on defense for Notre Dame as the Irish won a 28-8 victory over North Carolina. The senior All-American end kicked two extra points and was credited with a safety when he blocked an attempted kick in the end zone. Monty caught a 12-yard pass from quarterback Don White and played almost the entire game.

Mont Pleasant Gets Win, 20-0

Mont Pleasant's defensive unit scored all three touchdowns as the Red Raiders, defending Class A champions in the Capital District League, launched their season with a 20-0 victory over Albany High Saturday afternoon.

The Garnet and Gray, now 1-1 for the campaign, more than contained the Mont Pleasant offense but couldn't cope with its defenders.

The Red Raiders converted a fumble into the first touchdown, returned a punt 70 yards for the second TD and intercepted an aerial for the final counter.

Tom Nicklaw lifted the home team into its lead when he crushed six yards into pay dirt after Pleasant guard Dave Griffith had recovered a fumble on the Albany High 11.

Nicklaw was the same lad who raced 70 yards with the punt return in the third period. Later in the quarter, Jack Edwards intercepted an Albany High aerial and skirted 70 yards for the final score.

Sam Ferruci kicked two extra points.

Albany chalked up only two first downs and had only one threat. That came in the second period when a Pleasant fumble was recovered on the 18. However, four thrusts picked up only eight yards.

LA Is Confident Of Winning Crown

CHICAGO (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers left for Milwaukee to open their best-of-three playoff for the National League pennant today but they didn't like the idea.

The Dodgers went through one of the greatest sweating periods in baseball history Sunday after defeating the Chicago Cubs, 7-1, to clinch a tie for the championship.

They huddled around radios listening to the Philadelphia-Milwaukee game. They cursed, they prayed, they hoped and they sweated. But it was to no avail. Milwaukee defeated Philadelphia 5-2 and Dodgers were involved in another playoff.

As representatives of Brooklyn, the Dodgers were in playoffs in 1946 and 1951. Both times they lost out.

However, manager Walt Alston was confident his club could come through and whip the Braves.

Most of the players remained in the dressing room to follow the radio account of the Milwaukee game. It was not until the Braves scored three times in the seventh inning that the Dodgers began to shower and leave. The team appeared confident and relaxed.

"We had to win this one," said Roger Craig who hurried magnificently in the tie clincher. "So we went out and did it. We'll win in the playoff, too."

James A. Garfield, 20th President, was shot by a frustrated government employee in a Washington, D. C., railroad station in 1881. He died from his wounds in Elberton, N. J.

Nyack Defeats Hoe-Bowl Nine

Nyack's County Welders closed out their New York-New Jersey Baseball League season with an 11-8 victory at Poughkeepsie on Saturday. However, the night before the tilt, Manager Jack Vah of the Welders died at his home. He was the league's vice president.

Starter Don Decker was the loser for the Hoe-Bowls, who won the title by one game over Kingston. Billy Ostrom finished up. Frank Horan was the winner.

New Paltz Defeats Marlboro Club, 20-12

After building up a big lead, New Paltz survived an aerial bombardment by Marlboro and hung up a 20-12 UCAL decision at the New Paltz field Saturday. The Huguenots punched for touchdowns in each of the first three periods and then staved off Marlboro's rally attempt.

Glen Moore recovered a fumble for New Paltz in the Marlboro sector soon after the game began but the home team yielded the ball on downs. After Marlboro punted out, New Paltz came back to get its initial marker, Bill Freer, the snappy quarterback, pegging a 20-yard payoff pass to Artie Mead. Jim Vandenberg smashed for the extra point.

Mead scored from the eight to cap a New Paltz scoring thrust in the second session and Vandenberg again added the extra point.

The clincher came in the third period and was a 12-yard slant by Vandenberg. The point try failed.

Marlboro, which couldn't get going in the first half, then built up a full head of steam with Sam Mandia at the throttle. He pegged a pass to Frank DeMarco for one touchdown, this one in the third period, and connected with Bob Sullivan in the fourth. Both were long-gainers.

Marlboro was dominant through most of the last half but couldn't quite make up the deficit.

Wallkill Nips Rondout Valley, 21-20, in UCAL Thriller

Losers Beaten When Penalty Stops Point Try

Underdog Rondout Valley played highly rated Wallkill players off their feet before finally bowing, 21-20, in a thrilling UCAL match Saturday at the Marletown School gridiron. It was the second straight one point decision for the winners, who are favorites to capture league laurels.

A penalty after a point try was made in the fourth period deprived the home side of a tie. They tried the point again and failed.

Wallkill tallied in the first period as halfback Ralph Bilbao ran over from the ten and brother Gene carried for the extra point.

Coach Chick Meehan's boys stormed back when end Keith Johnson (and what a game he played) blocked a punt on the 35, picked it up and ran for a touchdown. Quarterback Eddie Hannon then passed to Keith for the tying point.

The visitors went ahead before halftime when Ralph Bilbao lofted a 32-yard pass to end Ken Rumsey. He went into the end zone untouched. The same pair then clicked for the extra point.

RV Gets TD
Rondout came back after the halftime intermission and scored. Again a blocked punt by Keith Johnson set up the TD. The home side started from the 35 and Hannon rammed it over from the one on a plunge. Vic D'Alessio then scored the point on a dive over the center of the line.

An 18-yard pass from Hannon to Keith Johnson sent Rondout Valley ahead early in the fourth period. The turning point of the contest came up next when an apparent successful point was called back because of a penalty. The second try for the marker failed. It cost the home side at least a tie.

The visitors won the game with four minutes left to play as Ralph Bilbao tossed 45-yards to Rumsey. The pair then clicked for the winning extra point.

Neither side threatened in the final minutes of play and the contest ended with Wallkill in possession of the pigskin at midfield.

Coach Meehan said his line, led by the two Johnsons, Jeff Spiegel and Steve LaFalce, was outstanding in defeat.

Dodgers, Braves Both Get Wins To Tie for Title

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

On the last Friday of the season, the Dodgers had a day off but gained a tie for the National League pennant. They kept it through Saturday and Sunday, although losing 4-0 to the Braves in the final game, and for the first time in major league history a playoff decided a pennant.

That was 1946. The Dodgers, then a Brooklyn bunch, lost the flag to the St. Louis Cardinals, who swept the first two games in the best-of-three playoff.

Five years later, on the last Friday of the season, the Dodgers dropped into a first-place tie with the idle Giants with a 4-3 loss at Philadelphia. Both won on Saturday, and again on Sunday, the final day, setting up the second pennant playoff in NL history.

That was 1951. And if you don't remember how the Dodgers lost that one, you're only seven years old.

Eight years later, on the last Friday of the season, the Dodgers won 5-4 in 11 innings at Chicago and took a one-game lead. Saturday the lead was a tie, after they lost 12-2 to the Cubs and Milwaukee's Braves beat Philadelphia 3-2. It stayed a tie Sunday, the final day, when the Dodgers beat the Cubs 7-1 and the Braves beat the Phils 5-2.

Third Playoff
So the Dodgers head into their third pennant playoff, and the NL's third, at Milwaukee today against the Braves.

The winner will get a day off before jumping into the World Series against Chicago's American League champion White Sox either Thursday or Friday at Chicago's Comiskey Park.

The Dodgers and Braves, either destined to win with the fewest victories (88) in NL history, junked any chance for an unprecedented three-way tie by winning Sunday. That killed San Francisco's Giants, who made it doubly sure by losing a doubleheader at St. Louis, 2-1 and 1-4-8.

Roger Craig (11-5) put it away for the Dodgers, winning his fifth in a row with a six-hitter and driving in a pair of second-inning runs with a single off Bob Anderson (12-13). Charlie Neal and John Roseboro made it a breeze with two-run homers.

Earl Averill homered for the Cubs' run in the fifth—their second hit off Craig.
The Braves, playing with their runs unearned. They beat Los Angeles victory on the scoreboard, kept the deadlock with all Jim Owens (12-12) with three runs in the seventh.

Five Unearned Runs

Two singles, an error, a walk, a passed ball and a balk, by reliever Humberto Robinson, clinched it, giving the victory to Bob Buhl (15-9) after he had been tagged for a fifth inning homer by Carl Sawatski that tied it 1-1. Sawatski, like Robinson an ex-Brave, doubled home the other Phillie run in the ninth, off reliever Don McMahon.

The Giants, beaten in the opener when the Cards scored two unearned runs in the eighth, lost seven of their last eight games—after leading by two with nine days to go.

Cincinnati tied Chicago for fifth place in the final standings, beating fourth place Pittsburgh 9-7 in the other NL game.

AL Ends Year With Surprises

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's impossible to crowd a whole season into a single day, but the American League came close to doing just that, painting the picture in miniature in the final games of the year.

There was right-hander Bob Shaw, the big surprise who helped boost Chicago to its first pennant in 40 years, winning his 18th as the White Sox beat Detroit 6-4 Sunday.

There was Harmon Killebrew, the quiet kid who exploded the season's first home run opening day and made a run for Babe Ruth's record, hammering as Washington lost to Boston 6-2. It was Killebrew's 42nd, tying Cleveland's Rocky Colavito for the title in the AL and matching the Senator high set by Roy Sievers in '37.

Score Slumps
There was Herb Score, the southpaw who slumped and took Cleveland's second-place Indians with him, losing his sixth in a row since July 3 — when the Indians were first — as Kansas City beat the Tribe 6-5.

And there was New York's 3-1 loss to Baltimore, putting an end to the year the Yankees didn't win the pennant, a year in which they lost more and won fewer than any other Yankee club in 34 seasons.

While the White Sox, who'll have to wait a bit longer for the World Series opener while Los Angeles and Milwaukee meet for the National League pennant, put it away early for Shaw (18-6), the Tiger's Harvey Kuen was 1-for-4 and won his first batting title with a .333 average.

Luis Steals 56 Bases
Luis Aparicio added a couple of stolen bases for a total of 56, highest in the majors since Washington's George Case had 61 in 1943 and tying the White Sox record set by Wally Moses the same year.

With Killebrew's 42nd homer and Sievers hitting his 21st, the Senators pushed their club record to 163 — the old Nat high was 121 last year — but finished last for the third straight season. The Red Sox, with Ted Williams knocking in two runs with a single and a double in what may have been his final game, finished fifth, a game ahead of Baltimore.

Lowest Since 1925
The Orioles, blanked on five hits by rookie John Gabler for 7 2-3 innings, put together five successive singles for all their runs in the eighth, leaving New York with a 7-0 record. The Yankees, who had won four straight flags, hadn't done so poorly since the 69-85 seventh-place finish of 1925.

On the heels of the defeat, the club announced that Casey Stengel, who has won nine pennants in 11 tries with the Yankees, will complete his two-year contract, which ends after next season. But pitching coach Jim Turner, whispered a couple of years ago as Stengel's successor, was turned loose "with regret."

Milwaukee defeated Philadelphia 5-2 after Los Angeles whipped Chicago 7-1 to set up their tie and playoff in the National League. St. Louis drubbed San Francisco twice, 2-1 and 14-8 and Cincinnati defeated Pittsburgh 9-7.

Pitching — Roger Craig, Dodgers, carried Dodgers into pennant playoff with six-hitter for 7-1 victory over the Cubs, walking but two and striking out three.

Hitting — Del Crandall, Braves, singled twice in three trips and scored twice, coming across with tie-breaking run in decisive, three-run seventh inning that beat Phillies 5-2 and forced playoff.

July 4 Leaders Fail in Stretch

CHICAGO (AP)—No matter who wins the playoff for the National League pennant, the July 4 leaders were shut out of the World Series in both races.

It's Los Angeles and Milwaukee who now play a best-of-three series for the flag, but it was San Francisco's Giants who led the National League on July 4—by a half-game over the Braves, then O'Neill.

second, and 1½ games over the Dodgers, then third.

The Giants finished in third place, three games short.

Cleveland led the American League race on July 4 by two games over the Chicago White Sox, who nailed their first pennant in 40 years with a 4½-game margin last Wednesday.

State Mottos

CHICAGO (AP) — Hawaii's statehood brings a new language to the list of those used for official state mottos. The island state's motto in Hawaiian is "Ua Mau Ke Ea O Ka Aina I Ka Pono." It means, "The life of the land is perpetuated in righteousness." English and Latin are the language most used for state mottos, but a few states have chosen other tongues to say what they mean, according to the Book of the States. California, famed for its 1849 Gold Rush, has a one-word motto, the appropriate Greek word "Eureka" (I have found it). Minnesota's French motto is "L'Étoile du Nord" (The Star of the North). Montana, using Spanish, says "Oro y Plata" (Gold and Silver). The only American Indian motto is Washington's "Al-ki," which means "By and By."

Syracuse Displays Power In Beating Kansas Club

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The statistics prove that Syracuse University's 1959 football team has power, but the question today is whether the Orange is going to be a come-from-behind eleven.

Syracuse mauled Kansas on the ground and exhibited an accurate air attack for a 35-21 victory in its season opener Saturday. At half-time, however, Coach Ben Schwarzwald's charges trailed the visiting Jayhawks, 7-6.

At Ithaca, meanwhile, Cornell edged Colgate 20-15 in the first game of the season for both schools.

The University of Buffalo launched its campaign by downing Temple, 28-14, at Philadelphia. In other games for Upstate New York college teams: St. Lawrence defeated Hobart 21-8; Kings Point whipped Hamilton 26-8; Cortland State downed Alfred 12-2; Lock Haven, Pa., State overwhelmed Brockport State 27-14; Rochester bludgeoned Allegheny 6-0; East Stroudsburg, Pa., State trimmed Ithaca 12-6; Bates swamped Union 34-15; and Norwich crushed Rensselaer Polytechnic 32-0.

Syracuse's crushing ground attack was masterminded by the veteran Ger Schwedes and his relief, Dave Sarette. They piloted the Orange to 308 yards rushing against 43 for Kansas.

The Orange rolled up 32 first downs, compared with 2 for the Jayhawks. In the air, Syracuse gained 185 yards against 24 for Kansas.

Schwedes got the Syracuse attack going in the second half and spearheaded it by scoring two of his team's four second-half touchdowns on short bursts from scrimmage.

Kansas' Johnny Hadl took back one kickoff 97 yards for a touchdown and set up another with a 63-yard quick kick, one of two off-guard punts he booted.

Cornell downed neighboring Colgate as time was running out. Quarterback Marcello Tino tossed a fourth-down scoring pass to fullback Phil Taylor with 19 seconds left for the victory.

Pass interceptions and recovery of a Temple fumble enabled Buffalo to hand the Pennsylvanians their 13th consecutive loss. Buffalo scored one touchdown in each period.

Saturday, Syracuse will entertain Maryland, which lost, 26-0, to Texas Saturday night. Cornell meets Lehigh in Ithaca and Colgate plays at Penn State.

Other Upstate games: Hamilton at Rensselaer Polytechnic, Albany, "B" at St. Lawrence, Alfred at Juniata, Hobart at Rochester, Cortland State at Buffalo, Union at Amherst, and Brockport State at Ithaca.

Gomes to Meet Jay Fullmer In Top Fight

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer

The junior lightweight championship may not carry much stature but it's going to help titleholder Harold Gomes to a television payday or two.

Gomes, 26, starts cashing in this Friday when he faces Jay Fullmer, younger brother of NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer, in the radio-TV (NBC 10 p. m.) headliner at Providence, R. I.

The TV shot is worth a minimum of $4,000 plus a piece of the gate. Gomes won the long dormant 130-pound title by beating Texan Paul Jorgensen last July 20.

Harold's title won't be at stake. The ten-round is an over-the-weight affair.

Joey Giardello, the veteran Philadelphia contender, makes another bid for a middleweight title fight on Wednesday night. The 29-year-old 160-pounder meets 30-year-old Dick Tiger, Nigeria's British Empire middleweight champion, in the Wednesday night TV (ABC 10 p. m.) tiff at the Chicago Stadium.

There's plenty of action on scattered fronts tonight.

At Philadelphia, young lightweight contenders Paulie Armstrong of Los Angeles and Lennie Matthews of Philadelphia clash in a return 10-rounder at the Philadelphia arena.

Xvon Durelle, Canadian and British Empire light heavyweight king, continues his heavyweight campaign against Charlie Jones of Newark, N. J., at Quebec.

Packers Surprise Bears 9-6 Upsets Mark College Tilts

Giants Upset Los Angeles Rams, 23-21

By MIKE RATHER

Associated Press Sports Writer

The name Vince Lombardi has been pencilled into Green Bay Packer annals. Johnny Unitas gets another line in Baltimore record books. Bert Bell smiles.

Bell, the National Football League's major domo, again has predicted that this season — the pro circuit's 40th — will be the greatest in history. He does it every year.

But, he couldn't have known: 1. That the Packers, almost unanimously picked to finish last in the Western Division, would make Lombardi's debut as head coach a monumental success with a 9-6 upset of the highly ranked Chicago Bears.

2. That Unitas, Baltimore's passing wizard, would fire the befuddled Colts to a 21-9 victory over the stubborn Detroit Lions and extend one of the NFL's greatest records at the same time.

While the Packers and Colts were winning their season-openers over the weekend, the Chicago Cardinals continued to support the thesis they are the team to beat in the Eastern Division by thumping Washington 49-21.

In other curtain-raisers, New York's Giants pulled a mild upset by edging Los Angeles 23-21, the Pittsburgh Steelers downed Cleveland 17-7 and San Francisco's 49ers defeated Philadelphia 24-14.

Highland Beats Beacon in DCSL Contest, 19-6

Fullback Leo Lillimaggi cracked a tie game with a 28-yard touchdown run in the second quarter at Beacon Saturday and Highland hurtled to a 19-6 conquest in the important DCSL tussle. The defending champs added another marker in the third quarter and beat back Beacon's comeback attempt which was high on an aerial fusillade.

Highland's plucky line men checked Beacon runner, limiting them to 54 yards all afternoon. Unable to go along the ground, quarterback Ed Tighe cranked up his right arm and pitched passes. He tried 19 and hit on five.

Highland scored in the first quarter when Bill Phillips hauled a punt from midfield to the four and then Phillips passed to Leo Bozdyaj for the point.

Beacon bounced back. The team went from its 41 to the end zone, retaining possession twice with the aid of two fourth down penalties, but then it was Highland's turn and an apparent TD by Tighe from the one was crossed out when the team was offside.

But after losing the ball Beacon got it back as Don Cring recovered a fumble on the four. Bob Smith scored from there to knot the score.

Lou Margaglio zipped to the Beacon 48 with the kickoff and Phillips piled to the 30 in two tries. After a smack by Margaglio netted two, Lillimaggi went all the way. Highland added its last TD in the third period, moving from midfield in 10 plays, the last a four-yard stunt by Margaglio. Phillips skirted end for the extra point.

The home side then took to the air and reached the Highland eight before being repulsed.

Scoring by periods:

Highland	6	6	7	0	19
Beacon	0	6	0	0	6

Win Streak Halted

Shug Jordan's Auburn club now shows a 0-1 record as a result of its 3-0 loss to Tennessee. The defeat snapped college football's longest non-losing streak, 24 games, and will certainly make Louisiana State's march toward the Southeastern Conference title easier.

LSU, No. 1 team ahead of Oklahoma and Auburn, in last week's Associated Press poll, stopped Texas Christian, a rough outfit, 10-0. The Bengals now have won a dozen straight regular-season games, high in the country.

Auburn should have no trouble with Hardin-Simmons this week while LSU will be heavily favored over Baylor.

Another bigwig whose defeat will cause some quick recalculations is Southern Methodist. The Mustangs, favorites in the Southwest Conference, fell before Georgia Tech, 16-12.

Mississippi, No. 4, held up its prestige with a 16-0 lacing of Kentucky. The Ole Miss-LSU game on Oct. 31 could decide the SEC title.

Clemson, No. 5, swamped Virginia, 47-0, while Army, which again looks like the class of the East, crushed Boston College, 44-8.

Alloys made of bismuth, tin, lead and cadmium melt at a temperature much lower than that of boiling water, a fact that has made possible the construction of automatic fire-fighting sprinklers. Along the ceilings of buildings are hung water pipes, plugged at intervals with bismuth alloy. If a fire starts and heats the air, the plugs quickly melt and the water is released in sprays on the fire. No fire can get much of a start without turning on the sprinkler system.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST

A DOG'S TOENAILS SHOULD NOT QUITE TOUCH GROUND—EXCESSIVE NAILS MAY SPLIT, SNAG BRUSH EASILY, CAUSING LAMENESS WHEN HUNTING. DO NOT TRIM NAILS JUST BEFORE THE HUNT AS YOU MAY CUT THE QUICK WHICH IS LONGER IN LONG NAILS. TRIM THEM A WEEK OR TWO BEFORE THE HUNT: FIRST, CLIP THE TRANSLUCENT END—DARKER SECTION INDICATES THE QUICK. WAIT A FEW DAYS FOR THE TRIM SHORTER, AS SHOWN ABOVE, USING A FILE TO FINISH. Hurricane Gracie Whirls Toward U. S. Mainland

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Gracie whirled toward the U. S. mainland with a 90-mile punch today and the Miami Weather Bureau prepared to order hurricane warnings hoisted on the coast later today.

Following a west-northwest path, the storm was menacing the coastal areas of northeast Florida, Georgia and the Carolinas.

"It is likely that warnings will be issued for specific portions of this area later today," said a morning advisory.

The storm was centered 300 miles from the coast, slightly north of east of Cape Canaveral. Since last Friday, Gracie has loitered in the Atlantic east of Cape Canaveral. Its movement has been erratic. At one time Saturday it moved a bit farther away from the coast.

Gracie's forward speed is about 5 miles an hour. The Weather Bureau said it was expected to continue that speed and continue in the west northwest direction with little change in size or intensity for the next 12 to 18 hours.

European Papers See Exchanges Beneficial

LONDON (AP) — European

newspapers of all political colors united today in greeting the Eisenhower-Khrushchev exchanges as a step toward easing tension and perhaps as a real contribution toward ending the cold war.

Non-Communist newspapers at the same time underlined that the Camp David talks apparently produced little concrete. They found this no great disappointment, perhaps because the years have shown that East-West negotiations always is slow to get results.

Street Program Report Released

Mayor Edwin F. Radel today made known a report of progress on the street improvement program undertaken by the Public Works Department under the direction of Superintendent Charles Cole.

Improvements completed under the specified program include West Union Street from Wurts Street to Broadway; Van Deusen Street from Prospect Street to Broadway; Abel Street from Dunn Street 805 feet westerly towards the city line.

The report shows that secondary type pavement has been installed on the following streets: Boulder Avenue, Merilina Avenue, Stickle Avenue, Granite Court and Savoy Street.

Work is now in progress on Smith Avenue from Albany Avenue to O'Neil Street and Harding Avenue and Ferry Street.

The mayor state that another important project completed last week was the reconstruction of a long section of sidewalk along Broadway from Newkirk Avenue towards Stuyvesant Street. Mayor Radel said that the sidewalk was in a serious state of disrepair and constant source of complaints. Its condition also endangered the wall which supports Broadway. Corrective steps were taken by resetting the curb, constructing a new sidewalk and re-establishing a new fence along a section of Broadway.

His arrest followed an investigation by Cpl. Al Chieco, BCI, and Trooper Harry Foster.

Sgt. E. E. Winkky told The Freeman that Decker allegedly took a bench saw, clothing and a "doodle bug" (home-made tractor) from the garage of Emil Ellison who resides near Walkkill.

Ellison was in the process of moving to another location at the time.
